SYNOPSIS AND AGRICULTURAL SUMMARY

The cold air mass which dropped temperatures in this district yesterday and last night is moving rapidly southward beyond this area. Behind it a rather strong northerly flow aloft will continue and will prevent rapid warming during the next couple of days.

Winds will be considerably lighter this afternoon compared to yesterday and will become very light tonight. Scattered daytime clouds will dissipate tonight and most areas will be as cold as last night. Some eastern sections may be colder. Protective measures for tender plants and tree fruits, etc., should be continued.

Some warming is expected on Thursday and Thursday night. Afternoon temperatures dropped from the 70s on Monday to the 40s and 50s over most of southern Idaho yesterday. The greatest cooling in daytime temperatures occurred in Magic Valley where highs ranging from the middle 40s to low 50s yesterday were 23 to 28 degrees colder than Monday.

The changes in nighttime temperatures were not as large. Early morning temperatures were below freezing and mostly in the 20s, ranging from 18 at Halley to 30 at Bury and 31 at Twin Falls.

FIVE-DAY FORECAST

The next five-day period, Thursday through Monday, will be cool. Temperatures will average about five degrees below normal in southwestern Idaho to 10 degrees or more below normal in southeastern Idaho. A gradual warming trend Thursday and Friday may be followed by briefly colder weather about Saturday, with further warming Sunday and Monday. Normal maximum and minimum temperatures for this period are Gooding 67-40, Twin Falls 67-37 and Bury 66-37.

Southeastern Idaho will have occasional rain, with snow in the mountains and higher valleys giving probably .05 to .15 of an inch of precipitation, most likely the latter part of this week.

Windy weather is indicated for about Friday or Saturday with light to moderate winds on other days. Prevailing directions should range from southwest to northwest.

Sunshine should average near normal, or about 65 to 70 per cent of possible. Soil temperatures will continue rather cool, averaging in the 50s or the upper 40s in the top four inches most of this period.

The campaign will begin at the fourteenth annual Republican Women's Conference to be held May 5-7 at the Sheraton-Park Hotel in Washington.

Women from every state will attend the national conference, indicating intensified interest among GOP women to step up participation in local and national politics, according to Mrs. Brooks.

According to Deputy Sheriff Thomas Majors, investigating officer, William Cooke, 49, Jackpot, was driving a 1957 Ford station wagon east on the Foot Hills Road and lost control of the station wagon about 297 feet along the road, then rolled over and came to rest farther along the side of the road.

A passenger in the auto, Alice Tate, 46, Kimberly, was not injured. Cooke was taken to Magic Valley Memorial Hospital where he was treated and released.

The auto was demolished and Cooke was cited for drunk driving.

Soviet Center In Jakarta Closes Doors

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — The Soviet Cultural Center in Jakarta closed its doors today in the face of student pressure protesting a Lenin exhibit.

Armed students who had been blocking the two-story building since Tuesday were withdrawn. About 30 youths from Kami, the university students' action front, had surrounded the building to keep Indonesians from seeing the exhibit honoring Lenin, the father of Soviet communism.

The government withdrew troops who had been sent to guard the building after irate students had threatened to attack the center.

A student delegation told Soviet officials at the center Monday that movies and displays of hours or they would attack the center. Students said they had no objection to the center holding technological or scientific displays, but they would not permit displays on communism.

The director of the center refused to yield to the student ultimatum. The next day the youths said they would respect the diplomatic immunity of the center and blockade it rather than sack the place.

Britain, Rhodesia Begin Meetings

LONDON (AP) — Prime Minister Harold Wilson announced today that informal talks have begun with Rhodesia in search for a solution to its rebellion.

The announcement came as Wilson's private secretary, Oliver Wright, was in Salisbury.

Prime Minister Ian Smith of Rhodesia told his Parliament in Salisbury Tuesday that his government was willing to enter into talks with Britain without preconditions. His tone seemed conciliatory.

Wilson told the House of Commons today the informal talks began Friday.

Mrs. McConnell Is Honored at Rites

CSI Peace Officer Training Course Is First in Idaho

Wesley H. Dobbs, instructor of the Peace Officers Training Course at the College of Southern Idaho, says his current 11-month class will be extended to a two-year program and should be graduating approximately 36 potential peace officers per year by 1971.

Dobbs said there are 13 students in his class. They are all "top notch students," he said, and all are doing well. This year is the first year for this course, and according to Dobbs this is the first time this type class has been offered in the state.

Dobbs said even men who have had previous police training and experience will find opportunity in this program for further study to improve their qualifications for advancement.

Some of the subjects taught in the course are general administration of justice, advanced police organization and administration, armed and unarmed self defense, introduction to police records and communications, police photography, law of arrest, court procedure, law of evidence, various Idaho codes, elementary criminal law and criminal identification, as well as many other phases of police work.

In a separate phase of the policeman's training he learns traffic control and enforcement, accident investigation, first aid and driver training.

Dobbs said courses also are taught in oral expression, which is the development of effective organization and delivery of speech information, reading in police problems, which is designed to meet the individual needs and problems of the student in special fields of interest, and police department field work, which gives individual experience and cadet training in a city police department or other investigational organization.

Dobbs said the object of the course is to put out a good basic patrolman who can go to work and do the job.

Dobbs said job opportunities are practically unlimited because the state of Idaho has said it needs a bare minimum of 75 additional policemen per year. Dobbs said this is not considering persons who transfer, and is only for additional patrolmen needed to fill the slots left vacant by patrolmen who retire, die, or for new jobs created.

He said his class next year will begin with 20 students, and by the second year he plans to have 20 in the second year class, and 20 in the first year class.

He said he intends for the course to grow until it reaches a peak of 36 students per class.

Dobbs said he started with two full time peace officers in the course and now has five, one from Twin Falls, one Gooding, one Burley and two Rupert.

Unreasoning

As expected by some supporters of the College of Southern Idaho, isolated opposition to the $3 million bond issue has materialized in Jerome. The opposition was predicted several months ago by college backers who declared a small Jerome clique would find some means of opposing any bond issue necessary to permit growth and expansion of the college.

It's unthinking and unreasoning at this stage of developments to sabotage or oppose the $3 million bond issue. The first consideration has to be for youngsters attending CSI. Unless the junior college wins accreditation, they could be wasting their time and money so far as transfer of credits to four-year universities is concerned. Establishment of the college on its own campus is one of the requirements for full accreditation, although temporary accreditation has been extended.

The college has only three more years to establish itself on its own campus. The time is short because bonds have to be sold and bids called before even the first shovel of dirt can be turned.

Secondly, it's shortsighted, to say the least, to oppose the $3 million bond issue if only on the basis of federal funds that can be obtained with approval of the bond. The federal government has allocated $1.8 million to Idaho for use of institutions of higher learning on a matching basis. No other Idaho college or university is in a position to claim those federal funds for the simple reason no money is available to them. The College of Southern Idaho can claim most or all of the $1.8 million if junior college residents approve the $3 million bond issue on May 10. The $1.8 million would save that amount for junior college residents over the next few years without adding one cent of federal taxation to any taxpayer in Idaho or elsewhere. It's a rare bargain. Any part of the $1.8 million not claimed before July 1 will be re-allocated to another state.

The situation on federal matching funds probably won't ever be repeated. In the first place, by the next fiscal year, other Idaho colleges plan to have matching funds. Secondly, there's a good indication the federal government doesn't plan to be so liberal with educational funds next year. The 1966 elections will be past and the Viet Nam war might be claiming more cash and attention.

When it came to joining the junior college district, Jerome County residents voted a solid 90 per cent in favor of the move. They were voting only on whether to join the district or stay out—nothing else was on the ballot. However, Jerome County residents must have realized that a vote to join the district implied the responsibility and duty to share in financing the college. Hopefully, they will live up to that responsibility and duty when they go to the polls May 10 and cast a resounding "yes" ballot for the $3 million bond issue.

In the meantime there may be more static from the little group that apparently has decided to oppose the bond issue. Make no mistake, this opposition originates from a small clique more intent on making noise than being logical and reasonable. It's a failing of most vocal minorities. It's not likely that the bulk of Jerome County residents will be misled by the sound and fury. Any area that votes a whopping 90 per cent to join a junior college district definitely is interested in education and far too smart to be diverted from that goal.

HE GOT SMART

It was surprising to read that Darrell H. Dorman, state president of the AFL-CIO, had withdrawn from the Democratic race for governor. Usually when a man goes so far as to announce that he's a candidate, he's locked in on the idea and nothing can change his mind. It would be interesting to know what's behind Mr. Dorman's decision. It's almost a cinch he didn't change his mind without some outside help.

His statement of withdrawal said, "After considering all the facts involved in the Democratic race for governor..." It might be that Mr. Dorman also was confronted with a few facts of life. It might have been suggested to him rather forcefully that his candidacy would focus unnecessary attention on the relative weakness of unorganized labor in Idaho, for instance.

In any event, Mr. Dorman probably chose the smart course of action. It's difficult to predict what will happen in any election, especially when the field becomes jammed with hopefuls. With five more candidates left, anything can happen—and probably will.

NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

By ANDREW TULLY
WASHINGTON — I see no reason to question the competence of Floyd B. McKissick, national director of the Congress of Racial Equality (CORE), to announce that 40 American cities probably will suffer racial riots this summer. In his job, McKissick has his ear closer to that particular ground than most of us do.

But assuming that such cities as Washington, New York, Detroit, Philadelphia and Chicago indeed are ripe for disturbances of the peace, I still do not know why such a situation should pre-empt a caviar for breakfast, or a Negro President, or what?

WHAT MORE? — Congress already has enacted into law a fat package of legislation spelling out the Negro's right to vote, to eat in a white restaurant, to study in a white school and to get a job in a white factory or office. This year, presumably, Capitol Hill will act on proposals to set national standards for juries and to ban discrimination in the renting and sale of houses. These are all rights the Negro was born with, and it is a sad commentary on the American tradition of fair play that he has had to agitate to make them a reality.

But we now have reached the point where nothing else can be done for the Negro by legislation. He needs better housing, better schools, and a seat in existing schools, but can be provided only by appropriating money to buy them or by enforcing present laws, actions which should be pursued zealously and without any noble posturing by the white population. The rest, however, is up to the Negro himself and his leadership.

JOBS ARE OPEN — Getting and holding a job, for example, is now one of the things the Negro must do for himself. There was a pathetic irony in the announcement by the White House Conference on Civil Rights, scheduled here June 1 and 2, that jobs will be a primary concern of the conference — on the very day that the Washington Post carried 110 columns of classified advertising labeled "Help Wanted Male."

At least half of these jobs were in the unskilled category in which most Negroes, because of their educational deprivations, must seek work. Moreover, the administration has announced that one of the contributing factors to creeping inflation is a national shortage of labor of all kinds. Washington is not, by any stretch of the imagination, an industrial city; if there are job openings here there must be many more in cities across the country.

However, I have yet to hear a Negro leader stand up and tell his people to borrow a newspaper and at least scan it cursorily for employment opportunities.

"BURNING THEIR STORES" — Instead, we have Floyd B. McKissick warning us that we're going to have riots in at least 40 of our cities. We have the Washington Negro leader, Julius Hobson, campaigning for home rule here by demanding that Negroes not only boycott downtown merchants, but suggesting that "There's nothing too bad to do the merchants..." even burning their stores. We have Negro teenagers rioting at a Washington amusement park because they got tired of standing in line at the concessions, and civil rights bullies heckling guests at a Cherry Blossom Festival party in a local hotel.

Jobs are, indeed, a primary concern of the White House Conference on Civil Rights. But the concern is not in finding jobs for Negroes, but in persuading a certain element among them to take them. The Constitution guarantees many things, including some privileges lately discovered by a curious Supreme Court. It does not guarantee anyone — black, white or polka dot — a place in the economic or cultural sun; it merely gives everybody the equal right to find it. And it doesn't say — not yet, anyway — that the pursuit of such happy affluence shall be achieved by rioting and burning down stores.

Views of Others

CHANGE FOR A TIME
There is good reason to believe Southern Idaho will go along with daylight saving time, rather than force northern Idaho to give it up.

There has been some concern along that line since Congress passed a daylight saving bill Wednesday. It provides that the special fast time shall apply throughout the United States unless a state legislature specifically vetoes it. But the catch lies in the provision that the legislature must veto if for the entire state, or not at all.

It means that by next year all Idaho will be on daylight saving during the warm months, or none of Idaho. Until now, Northern Idaho has followed daylight saving, and Southern Idaho has not.

The bill passed by Congress has been criticized because it doesn't permit such varied uses of daylight saving. But the bill was designed to eliminate all the confusion connected with patchwork use of fast time. Such a bill could hardly create the exceptions it sought to eliminate. The bill was aimed at the general welfare and not the convenience of a specific region.

There will be localized problems with the bill, and Idaho may be one example, but probably not. It seems likely southern Idaho will agree to veto it in the legislature.

There is no widespread opposition to daylight saving in Southern Idaho, and none should develop. Many of the communities in Southern Idaho have considered fast time in the past, but decided it was impractical to do it a community at a time. That will be unnecessary now.

Consideration should still be given to placing the two halves of the state in the same time zone. North and South Idaho are at the same point under the sun, but in two separate time zones.

Uniform use of daylight saving time is a step in the right direction nationally, but uniform time is still needed in the Gem State.—Lewiston Tribune.

THOSE DETROIT CATS

Word from Detroit is that the 1967 automobile models will have "the feline look of softer contours and the appearance of a big cat about to spring." Some of the brands will even be named after members of the cat-family. We may as well inform Detroit now that we despise cats and that if the new cars look feline we will most likely consider picking up some old dog off a used car lot.

We would like Detroit to offer us a safe and solid car, one that will land on its feet if rolled over (like a cat) and, if possible, one that has nine lives. We couldn't care less whether the car "gives the impression of a crouched tiger about to spring." Our reaction is likely to be, indeed, the same uncontrollable quivering of the trigger finger that occurs when a cat slinks past our window.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

The Doctor Says

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.

Bites of poisonous snakes continue to occur but the methods recommended for their treatment have been changing in recent years. It is now believed that cutting the skin and sucking out the venom is an emergency measure that should be used only when the bite is known to have come from a rattlesnake or water moccasin that is longer than 3 1/2 feet or when the bite is near the heart (face, neck or trunk).

In such a case, waste no time — if a sharp knife is not handy use a sharp piece of tin or broken glass to cut the skin, but expose it to a flame first to reduce the chances of infection.

One of the dangers of using this type of emergency treatment is absorption of venom through a small cut or inflamed portion of the lips, gums or inner surface of the mouth.

This can be prevented if you use a suction cup supplied with the standard snake bite first aid kit or use a thin sheet of rubber between your mouth and the snake bite. Another disadvantage of the cut-and-suck treatment is that in one's haste and excitement one may make a painful wound which later becomes infected, only to learn that the snake was nonpoisonous.

If it is possible to get to a

Interpreting The News

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP) — If criticism stimulates, Sen. Wayne Morse must keep the President bubbling. The Oregon Democrat can't stand Lyndon B. Johnson's Viet Nam policy. Johnson seems to be doing Morse good, too.

The senator tells about a recent conversation with the President:

Johnson: "Wayne, I've never seen you look so healthy. What's your secret?"

Morse: "Mr. President, you're the secret. Your foreign policy so agitates my adrenal glands that they wash out my blood stream two or three times a day. There's nothing better than that for your health."

Morse has said tougher things to and about Johnson but they get along. And politician Johnson never lets the criticism get in the way of his using Morse when he thinks Morse can help him.

Morse was rough on President John F. Kennedy, too, probably never rougher than in the 1960 presidential primaries when he called Kennedy a "phraselical liberal who doesn't vote the way he talks" and suggested his voting record was so nonliberal he should have been in the opposition party.

Kennedy, like Johnson, rolled with the punches, and was even good-natured about them. In his book about Kennedy's presidency, "A Thousand Days," Arthur Schlesinger Jr. describes Kennedy's reaction in the primary days:

"Half the time Wayne claps me on the shoulder and congratulates me; the other half he denounces me as a traitor to liberalism and an enemy of the working class."

Knowing Morse's long experience in labor disputes, Kennedy in 1963 named him chairman of a board which settled a month-long longshoremen's strike.

Relations between Morse and President Dwight D. Eisenhower were practically nonexistent. Morse not only turned against the general in the 1952 campaign but dropped out of the Republican party, later became a Democrat, and even suggested he quit the presidency for lack of energy to carry on the job.

It is customary, every other year, for the President to name two senators — selection is by seniority — from the Foreign Relations Committee as members of the American delegation to the United Nations. In 1960 Morse was one of the two named by Eisenhower. There was nothing personal about it.

If Eisenhower hadn't done it, he would have had Morse on his back for months publicly asking why.

The Associated Press files show Morse went after Johnson early. In 1953, while still calling himself an independent, Morse visited Texas and the AP reported, held interviews in which he said Johnson represented nobody but himself in the Sen-

NEW YORK (AP) — Do you wonder whether you are middle-aged?

Well, middle age is like success or life itself: It isn't a destination — just part of the journey.

Nobody is born middle-aged; it is thrust upon us by time. If you keep your nose clean, wash behind your ears, and look both ways before crossing the street, sooner or later you will achieve middle age. It is one of the pallid laurels of successful living.

Some people, on reaching middle age, try to hide it, as though it were a shameful disease. Actually, of course, it isn't really a malady, although it can be catching.

In any case, it is foolish to try to camouflage the condition of middle age.

Undoubtedly, you are middle-aged if:

You'd rather grow tomatoes than roses, because you can only smell roses but you can eat tomatoes.

In a year you gulp more aspirin tablets than you do candy mints.

You suspect that anyone who chews gum in public is mentally deficient.

There is no doubt in your mind that the average teen-ager carries a switchblade knife and is a potential dope addict.

Sitting on the bus going home you get angry because some younger fellow doesn't get up and give his seat to an old lady. You'd do it yourself — if your feet didn't hurt you.

It annoys you if your wife buys a new piece of furniture. You'd rather have the old one reupholstered.

TAYLOR'S VIEWS ON WORLD NEWS

By HENRY J. TAYLOR

Pop goes the Supreme Court and, again, the Communists come out on top.

On April 18, the court followed its own strange pattern by nullifying Arizona's law requiring state employees to take an oath not knowingly to act to overthrow the state government or advocate its overthrow. This is an ominous encroachment.

Arizona's highest court upheld the law as being merely "a restatement of the duties of citizenship."

Oh, no, said the Supreme Court, this threatens "the cherished freedom of association protected by the Fifth Amendment."

True to form, this decision adds its straw to the court's haystack of narrow judgments.

"Beyond all other rights rises the rights of the community," said the great Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes. Yet any unbiased reading of the aggregate decisions by today's Supreme Court inescapably indicates that the rights of the community so much as the rights of the criminal, the traitor and the conspiring Communist who, by any definition, that if Johnson "should ever have a liberal idea he would have a brain hemorrhage."

This didn't mar the relationship. On and off Morse criticized and defended Johnson. If Johnson had a constitutional question which bothered him, he consulted Morse, who had been a law school dean.

In 1964 Johnson called on Morse to help settle a longshoremen's dispute, in 1965 to help avert a steel strike, in 1965 to seek ideas to use when he addressed the United Nations.

Nevertheless, Morse bawled away and only recently said Johnson had "out-Goldwatered" Barry Goldwater on Viet Nam. And last week Johnson called on Morse to help avert an airline strike.

If all this seems simple, natural and par for the course in politics, it nevertheless raises a question:

Why isn't there the same kind of relationship between Johnson and Sen. J.W. Fulbright, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee and also a constant critic of the President's foreign policy?

The Johnson-Fulbright relationship seems frigid.

ate and that if Johnson "should ever have a liberal idea he would have a brain hemorrhage."

Many of the justices more learned and distinguished including Chief Justice John Marshall — than any man on today's court have looked benignly on "In God We Trust," for example, before these minds conceived any legal conflict whatever. In fact, it seems evident that such a magnificent defender of intangibles as Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes would be appalled by the legal nit-picking of the current court.

It is a dreadful thing, totally irresponsible, to suggest that any member of the Supreme Court wishes to encourage subversion or crime. The real issue is the court's nearly incredible narrowness, its repeated failure to recognize the larger needs when these compete with the smaller. Moreover, as Justice William implies, the pattern contains decisions taken on the basis of inappropriate criteria, and a disregard for the relevant facts.

Nor has the storm center which the court has become attributable entirely to this in the minds of sober critics.

You could hardly find a distinguished lawyer in the United States today who does not say that the present body refuses to limit itself to interpreting the Constitution but, instead, tends to legislate on its own. In short, the court appears to have goals of its own, and proposes to make those goals the laws.

In this unwarranted process, the court's conclusions often serve as premises. Pyramiding these, its precedents then serve as if they were new acts of Congress.

The members of the Supreme Court remain the same frail collection of bone, blood and brains that we all are. It is human for them to want to legislate, and an infatuation with setting their own precedents is human, too. But, in any nation, the bill for living is that everything comes to be paid in time. The true test of these men's services will be whether they have strengthened or weakened the spirit as well as the contents of the Constitution.

Bridge by Jacoby

SYMPATHY IS IN DICTIONARY

The Jacobys may sound a trifle cynical today. Oswald was describing the play of a hand.

Oswald: "East won the club lead with his ace and returned the five of hearts. South played the six. West won with the jack and led a second club to put South in dummy. The nine of spades was led from dummy. East played the four and South the three. A second spade led pulled the East-West trumps and South led the jack of diamonds. He played low from hearts on the diamond ace but instead South went down two tricks. He complained bitterly about four cards being wrong but somehow or other no one at the table seemed to sympathize with him."

Jim: "I can almost imagine North telling him that he could find 'sympathy' in the dictionary just a few pages in back of 'simple.'"

Oswald: "Tell our readers how South misplayed the hand!"

Jim: "If you check Dad's account of the play you will see that South played his three of spades under dummy's nine. He should have played the seven spot. Then, when a second spade lead pulled both adverse trumps South would have had an extra entry to dummy. He could then have won the second diamond with dummy's ace, ruffed out East's king, got back with the six of spades, discarded his queen of hearts on a good diamond and won the rubber instead of going down."

T. F. County GOP Women Hear Speaker

State Senator George Blick was featured speaker at a regular meeting of the Twin Falls County Republican Women in the Rogerson Roundup Room earlier this week.

In his speech to the women Sen. Blick said reapportionment is a mandate handed down by the U.S. Supreme Court. He said both houses of all state legislatures must be elected on a one man, one vote principal. Sen. Blick said the Federal Court in Idaho interpreted the U.S. Supreme Court ruling, and said the Idaho Constitution is in conflict with the federal Constitution by electing its Senate on a geographic formula, which is one senator from each county. Blick said, therefore, both the Senate and House of Representatives of Idaho must reapportion strictly on a population basis or be required to run at large all over the state.

Blick said, "This would be utter confusion." The result of this ruling, according to Blick, brought about the present plan of reapportionment under which the next legislature of Idaho will be elected.

Elsewhere in his speech Blick talked about the Equal Assessment Ratio bill, or the 20-20-40 bill, which says in part that all counties of Idaho must assess all real and personal property at 20 per cent of its true cash value and all utilities at 40 per cent.

Blick said this will cause all counties to assess at the same rate, rather than 10 per cent in some counties and as high as 30 per cent in others.

Blick said, at the conclusion of the four-year adjustment period, this bill, along with the reapportionment act, will bring about the consolidation of many of the states' counties. Blick said he thinks this will be beneficial to Idaho.

Senatorial candidate John Barker, Buhl, was also introduced at the meeting.

Farragut Park Work to Start Next Month

BOISE (AP) — Development of Farragut State Park for the 1967 World Boy Scout Jamboree is to get under way next month, Idaho Parks Director Wilhelm Beckert has announced.

Beckert said bids for the first project — a road to the Beaver Bay Beach development site — are to be opened May 10 and bids for the rest of the work are scheduled for opening this summer.

The beach development, a permanent park headquarters, a 50,000-seat amphitheater and general re-seeding was approved by the legislature in special session last month.

Bids for most of the work are scheduled to be opened July 15. The amphitheater bid opening is scheduled for Aug. 15.

The legislature appropriated $400,550 for the work. Beckert said $268,874 in federal matching funds also is available.

The money is for permanent park development as well as preparation for the Boy Scout Jamboree.

Gov. Robert E. Smylie told legislators a worldwide broadcast via telstar satellite is planned from Farragut. He said the park will be known as "State Park, U. S. A." to Scouts from nearly 100 countries after the jamboree.

Progress on the development planning is to be reported to the state park board meeting in Boise Saturday.

FBI Notes Shipping of Crooked Dice

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—The Federal Bureau of Investigation said today crooked dice have been shipped from Las Vegas to illegal gambling businesses in 38 states and an overseas Army post.

The statement was made in a report filed in U.S. District Court on searches and seizures at three Las Vegas addresses. No charges were filed.

The FBI said the crooked dice were shipped to several addresses in Nevada. It said it seized customer orders, instructions on how to have dice mis-spotted, concave, flat and otherwise improperly shaped and chemically weighted.

The agents said the dice were sold at 75 cents to $15.

Negro Speaks To 8,000 School Aides

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP)—Some 8,000 school board members went back to their hometowns across the country today after hearing a Negro leader's criticism of lack of action on school desegregation.

Whitney M. Young Jr., director of the National Urban League, told them Tuesday, "Historically, as we all know, there has been a lot of buck-passing. But the time has come when the buck-passing has got to stop."

Young was the first Negro ever asked by the National School Boards Association to address a general session.

Young said, "The record shows that your ranks are rife with timidity, that you are cautious in the extreme, that more often than not you fail to provide courageous and forthright leadership within your own communities, and that in some instances you are overly hostile to established national policy of educational and racial equality."

He said a reading of the association's statements of policy gave "only the barest suggestions that you have ever heard of the civil rights revolution... or that you assume any responsibility whatsoever for a solution."

Blast Rocks Indiana Powder Plant

CHARLESTOWN, Ind. (AP)—A heavy explosion rocked the Indiana Arsenal powder plant near Charlestown today, but no deaths or serious injuries were reported.

Forty persons were taken to Clark County Memorial Hospital in nearby Jeffersonville, but only one was admitted as a patient. His condition was listed as satisfactory.

The others were treated for shock, scratches, cuts and abrasions and were dismissed.

The blast occurred in an underground storage area called an igloo. It is some distance from the main complex of the plant.

Normally few men would be in the immediate area of an igloo.

State police said the blast broke windows in their post building four miles from the plant.

The plant is operated by Olin Mathieson Chemical Corp. and produces bulk powder for artillery shells. It employs about 1,200.

APPEAL SCHEDULED
BOISE (AP)—The Idaho Supreme Court will hear a North Idaho woman's appeal to conviction of shooting her husband to death and 13 other cases early next month in Lewiston and Coeur d'Alene.

The appeal was filed by Mrs. Doris Lucille Anstine, who was convicted of voluntary manslaughter in the shooting of her husband during an argument last year. She was sentenced to five years in prison.

Mrs. Anstine contends the conviction is contrary to evidence at her trial. She testified then that her husband threatened her during an argument over whether she had let the fire go out in a heater in their home.

WARNED OF FREEZE
FRUITLAND, Idaho (AP)—Light wind prevented temperatures from dropping as low as expected in some western Idaho fruitgrowing areas early today but freeze warnings were issued again for tonight.

Harold Harvey, Weather Bureau meteorologist, said temperatures could drop as low as 25 degrees with operation of orchard heaters expected to be needed about midnight.

Lowest temperatures reported this morning in the orchard areas was 25 degrees at Emmett.

BLAMED FOR FIRE
POCATELLO (AP)—A six-year-old boy playing with matches when he was supposed to be taking a nap is blamed for a fire that gutted upstairs rooms of his family's home.

Fire Chief H. J. Hill said the boy, Michael Denker, his mother and two other children got out of the house safely.

The fire started in a closet and spread rapidly through three bedrooms and a bathroom upstairs, Hill said. There was extensive water and smoke damage to the lower floor.

Republican Women's Unit Changes Name

Mrs. Laverne Koutnik, club representative, said the name of the Peticot Pollys has been changed to Peticot Politicians in an effort to avoid confusing them with another local GOP group with the same name.

At the same meeting a letter from Mrs. Luella Baum, GOP Women's federation state president, was read, which stated she will visit the area June 8, and will be accompanied by Mrs. Dorothy Ellston, national federation president. Mrs. Koutnik said a joint luncheon meeting of the two GOP women's clubs in the county will honor the two ladies.

A report on the Viet Nam project was given, and Mrs. Koutnik said the group is urging residents of Magic Valley to furnish the club with the names of fighting men in Viet Nam so packages may be sent to them.

The group will have a joint meeting with the Twin Falls County Women's Republican Club May 23, and Gov. Robert E. Smylie will be the guest speaker.

Huff is a native of Moscow, Idaho. He came to Boise in 1963 as an attorney for the state highway department and later joined the Ada County prosecutor's office as a deputy under Eugene C. Smith.

Huff received his law degree at the University of Idaho and began practice in Moscow in 1947.

Justice McFadden said there were several applicants for the court clerk position. The position pays $12,000 a year, Huff's salary with the county.

MAN KILLED
BOISE (AP)—An elderly Boise man died when his car crashed into the back of a truck stopped for an intersection light Tuesday.

Coroner Ed Paris identified him as Clarence Law, 63. The coroner said he ordered an autopsy to determine if Law died before the crash.

Law's death was the third in Southwest Idaho collisions in two days. But it was not immediately counted in the state's traffic toll due to the possibility he might not have been killed by the accident.

Asked why, Hausman, 37, said he was trying to make an emotional appeal to end "such absurdities."

The 20-story courthouse occupies a square block and is made of imitation stone blocks.

Artificial Pump May Be Used On Another Heart Patient

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—The basic design of the device, modified version of the partial artificial pump that kept Marcel DeRudder alive nearly five days may be used on another patient within several weeks.

DeRudder, 65, died Tuesday of a ruptured left lung, the last of several complications that developed after he became the first patient to make use of the new device designed to give damaged hearts a rest so they can heal themselves.

Dr. Michael DeBakey, the noted surgeon who performed the six-hour operation last Thursday, said the lung rupture was a complication "over which we had no control."

"We don't know what caused the rupture," he said after DeRudder's sudden and unexpected death.

"The pump did what we thought it would do. We would hope to use it in all cases of this type."

Asked when the device might be used again, he replied: "I can't tell. Probably in several weeks."

He indicated modifications being planned will not change the basic design of the device.

DeRudder never regained consciousness, but DeBakey said that, prior to the lung rupture, there had been signs this and other complications would have been overcome.

"But that's speculation," he added.

At the time of death, DeRudder also was receiving treatment for a kidney malfunction and for lung congestion.

The autopsy report attributed the prolonged unconsciousness to a blood clot in a major artery in the brain. It said a considerable amount of this fragment of clot had been found during the operation in the left auricle, the heart chamber that receives blood from veins.

"The autopsy revealed no evidence of any recurrence of this clot formation in the left auricle," the report said.

The artificial heart pump, the report said, was working normally up to the moment of death.

Valley Groups Set Concert On Thursday

VALLEY — The Valley High School Music Department will present its annual spring concert at 8 p.m. Thursday.

Performing groups will include the Concert Band, the Chorus, the Dance Band, and the Senior Dixieland Combo. Each senior will have a solo in the Dixieland Combo's performance of "Ja-Da."

In answer to requests from the community, David Follingstad, Director of Music at Valley High School, will play several solos in addition to providing the drum background for the Dance Band and the Senior Dixieland Combo.

Numbered among the Concert Band's selections will be old favorites such as "Night and Day" by Cole Porter and a capsule version of "Rhapsody in Blue" by George Gershwin, a musical interpretation of the teenager called "Ballet for Young Americans," a highlight from the musical "Camelot," and the movie theme "The In Crowd."

The Chorus will sing selections from two musicals, "The Sound of Music" and "The King and I," and the Dance Band will play a jazz waltz from the movie "Thunderball" and some traditional jazz favorites.

Follingstad will play "Liebesfreud" by Fritz Kreisler on the marimba, and do additional solo work on the marimba, chimes, timpani, and trap set.

The Valley High School Music Department cordially invites the public. There will be no admission charge, but donations to the music fund will be appreciated.

32 PERSONS KILLED

AMRAOTI, India (AP) — An explosion and fire at a cotton seed oil mill here Tuesday killed 32 persons and critically injured 26 others, police reported. About 500 residents of slums near the mill were evacuated. Cause of the explosion has not been determined.

Hits New High

LONDON (AP)—The British Broadcasting Corp. Third program radio network, which caters to far-out intellectual tastes, has hit a new high, or low, in minority audiences. It is broadcasting a play in Zulu.

The dialogue will be in Zulu, and so will the songs and tribal chants. But an English narrator has been substituted for the Zulu storyteller so the audience can follow the plot of "The Legend of Nkhwezi," about a princess and an ogre.

The play was recorded in South Africa, and producer Hallam Tennyson, a great-grandson of the poet, says he is putting it on because of its "rich series of consonantal and vowel sounds."

Four Sons of T.F. Couple, All Sailors, Meet on Ship

The meeting was a fluke, against all odds—like dropping a pencil to find it balance on its point — but four far-flung sailors, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Kirby Newman, Twin Falls, met on shipboard at Norfolk, Va., quite by chance.

The brothers had been scattered around the globe so that only on occasion had any two been on the same ocean at the same time. They had not seen each other for more than four years.

Mrs. Newman said Saturday she had no idea how they happened to get together. As it worked out, the four brothers were able to spend nearly two weeks together on leave before steaming out of the Virginia port.

The four are Kirby Newman Jr., a petty officer first class photographer; Joseph Newman, a petty officer second class boiler tender; Edward Newman, a petty officer second class machinery repairman; and David Newman, who has been in the Navy only one year, a petty officer third class communications specialist.

The story could have been better, however. Another son in the Navy, George Newman was stationed at Guam at the time, and the black sheep of the family, Weldon, was serving in the Army at the time in Italy. Since the rare meeting, the youngest of the brothers, David, has been stationed in Viet Nam, and Edward is now awaiting orders to that country. Kirby is now on a cruise to Italy and Joseph is stationed in San Francisco.

Speaker Set

HANSEN — Dr. James L. Taylor, president of the College of Southern Idaho, will be the guest speaker at the regular meeting of the Hansen PTA at 8 p.m. Thursday at the Hansen High School.

He will discuss all phases of interest pertaining to the college. Slides will be shown of the proposed site for the college campus. A question period will follow his talk. New officers will be installed.

Homes Along Lake Erie Are Flooded

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—Hundreds of homes along Lake Erie in Michigan and Ohio were flooded today when high winds drove water over protective walls.

Civil Defense and Red Cross units were called out in both states to help evacuate residents of low-lying areas bordering the lake.

It was reported to be the worst such flooding since 1952. Lakeside areas from Monroe, Mich., near Detroit, to Port Clinton, 30 miles east of Toledo, were reported flooded.

At times, winds reached an estimated 40 miles an hour.

The Weather Bureau said the high winds would continue through Thursday.

There was no immediate estimate of the number of families forced out of their homes.

At Monroe, Mich., winds spilled lake waters over 10-foot breakwaters built after calamitous spring floods in 1952.

Foreign Minister Says France Is Quitting NATO Because It's Outdated

PARIS (AP)—Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville says France is quitting the North Atlantic Treaty Organization's military command because it is out of date, but it doesn't want its friendship with the United States to diminish.

"In the nuclear era, this organization does not deal with the essential element of defense which is nuclear defense," Couve de Murville said. "France does not seek a special advantage. She is adopting herself to a new situation and this can only have advantages for the equilibrium and peace in Europe."

President Charles de Gaulle's government contends that NATO's nuclear arsenal is almost entirely owned and controlled by the United States and that NATO has no effective hand in it.

Replying in writing to questions submitted by The Associated Press, the foreign minister said France values American friendship highly. He denied that his government plans a non-aggression pact with the Soviet Union and reiterated that the French would like to "contribute to a peaceful settlement" in Viet Nam.

Couve de Murville said that in withdrawing from the military structure of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, "we are acting normally, as any government, in the interests of our country and we believe besides that what we are doing is in no manner contrary to the well understood interests of our allies."

He stressed that France intends to remain part of the North Atlantic Treaty signed in 1949. He pointed out that the military organization was developed after the treaty was signed and "is in no way a condition of it." The United States feels, however, that the military organization is an essential part of the alliance.

Couve de Murville declared that France had no intention of offending the United States by its stand on NATO or conversion of its excess balance of payments into gold.

"American friendship is an ancient precious value to which we are all attached in France and which we do not wish to see disappear or even diminish," he said.

Actress Acquitted Of Theft Charge

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A Municipal Court jury acquitted actress Hedy Lamarr Tuesday of a shop-lifting charge.

The 51-year-old Viennese star smiled as the court clerk read the verdict, then walked to the jury box and shook hands with and thanked the seven men and five women as they departed.

The still-beautiful actress had been charged with petty theft of 18 items of merchandise worth a total of $36 from a Wilshire Boulevard department store Jan. 27.

Captured, Killed Aide List Mounts

SAIGON (AP)—Viet Cong terrorists have killed or abducted more than 4,000 Vietnamese government officials in the past two years, authorities said today.

Red agents have been striking mainly at the countryside, decimating local leadership and paralyzing administration.

"Many villages today are virtually depopulated of their natural leaders," one official report said.

Their loss to Viet Nam is inestimable and will take a generation or more to replace.

The total of officials killed or abducted from the start of 1964 is 4,338.

Incomplete estimates of the non-official victims of Viet Cong terror in 1965 are 11,086 persons—killed, wounded or kidnapped.

According to captured Viet Cong directives, three-man "special activities cells" have been instructed to strike particularly at officials.

The effort to disrupt organized administrative life of rural Viet Nam was accompanied by the growth of urban terror. Terrorist acts in the Saigon-Cholon metropolitan area grew from 14 in 1962 to 103 in 1965. The capital was struck by more than 60 Viet Cong attacks so far this year.

Vietnamese and American officials appear to be more preoccupied with the trouble in the countryside, apparently feeling that the outcome of the war may be decided there.

Platoon Survivors Stay Put in Mud, Heat

By TOM TIEDE
BAO TRI, Viet Nam (NEA)—It was hot in the rice paddy. Itchy and uncomfortable. The platoon was buried in a foot of mud and, one by frightened one, the men were being picked off by heavy enemy fire from the front.

No one wanted to stay there, of course.

But there they would stay, to do a job, all 35 of them.

Lt. Jack Price, Oklahoma City, did what he could. He instructed his sergeants to move men forward when possible. He had his radio man keep in touch with command. He requested all manner of support fire.

He could do little else.

And slowly his platoon was being murdered.

Bombers were on the way, however. Thank God for that. Tons of explosives that would scatter the enemy's front and open their defenses to penetration.

"Lord," he muttered, "if they'd only hurry."

He felt he could hear every man who was being hit. Sometimes there was a scream, sometimes a muffled gasp, sometimes only the silence of a rifle that before had been noisily at war.

"Lieutenant!" somebody cried.

"Yeah," Price answered, "I see them."

"Skyriders," another man added.

"Here they come."

"Give 'em hell, up there!"

A number of the platoon members were beyond caring, but those who were still able squinted up into the tropical sky to see the welcome streaks of friendly aircraft.

Prop planes they were. World War II models but highly effective in terrain that demanded microscopic accuracy. They flew in at high altitude and then

Four Compete

IDAHO STATE UNIVERSITY, Pocatello — Andrew Wilson, Twin Falls; Neal Giles, Burley; Susan Garrison, Jerome, and Susan Endow, Declo, are among 12 ISU students who will compete in the 20th annual Big Sky Intercollegiate speech tournament at the University of Montana, Missoula, Thursday through Saturday.

Wilson will compete in individual oratory and the rest in oral interpretation.

mean to dive sharply from the rear of the platoon.

Bombs hit target, the men cheered.

Then, suddenly, the glee aborted.

Those who were still looking skyward could see a single silver cylinder falling straight for the platoon. A short bomb! A horrible mechanical error. The bomb release levers had broken loose prematurely and the TNT was falling gracefully, if grotesquely, toward the horrified GIs.

"Good God," the lieutenant screamed, "Everybody down."

Fingers clenched agonizingly in the ooze. Minds ceased to function. Hearts stopped beating.

It hit just to the left of the platoon. The explosion was a nightmarish whump, only partially blanketed by mud. A great shower of ground erupted and spattered.

Then a cry broke the brief after-silence:

"Oh, no! It hit me."

"Hold on," the lieutenant hollered, "I'm coming."

Price's eyes were stinging from heat and sweat when he reached the soldier, and he rubbed them roughly to clear his vision. It helped not at all. The man's face and neck had been shattered and he was unrecognizable even to his lieutenant.

Jack Price lifted the GI in his arms.

And there the man died.

The rest of the field was smoldering. Screams and groans, burned-away brush, twisted weapons, headless helmets; somebody nearby was calling for his mother; the paddy water was discolored with the blood of the wounded.

Price slogged from man to man to give aid.

But, doing so, he himself became the day's 27th victim.

At length the heat returned to the rice paddy and there, of course, the platoon was still sunk in the mud and the rifle fire again resumed from the front.

No one wanted to remain there, of course.

But there they would stay, to do a job, all eight who had survived.

Suit Shapes Trend to Soft Silhouettes

Why are suits younger than springtime? Colors band together—blue with mauve, lime with yellow, white with black. Often, a third color scheme chimes in.

In suit jackets, light indentation at the waist leads, but easiness is seen particularly on new short, non-closing jackets. High-rising lines contrast with dropped waistlines; bold patterns share honors with solids.

Suit collections have something to flatter everyone, reports the National Board of the Coat and Suit Industry. Despite great diversity, change in silhouettes is so universal that last spring's suits may well look dated.

One area of general agreement in styling seems to be that the ultra-long jacket is out. Shorter lengths in jackets move importantly forward.

Suit shapes trend to silhouettes soft and effortless as a spring breeze. The strict tailoring that stems from the 'Courreges influence makes an exit in favor of supple ease. Suit skirts prove that it's "A" for excellence, as the A-line shape once again demonstrates its enduring fashion stance.

Dirtdis and stitched pleats lend variety to A-lines. For the younger set, and their thigh-high skirts, a bit of flare at the hem adds ease.

As costumes move into even greater prominence in fashion, suits join in. Designers offer dresses with jackets, or skirts with vests and blouses, as a part of spring's suit look.

Contrast is the current news in costumes, with less matching, more mixing. Often, three pieces contrast—but with fashion's magic, they all add up to a total look.

Fabrics see double, too—plaids with solids, stripes or checks; checks with stripes. Hard-finished worsteds, or silk and worsteds, do a solo turn in suits.

Among the interesting suit fabrics are twills, gabardines, shetlands and boucles. Classic tattersalls, checks, plaids, coverts, serge all show a gentle surface.

Suit colors are many and lively: a snow of white; complexion tones; aquas to deep peacock green; powder to navy. Mauve pinks, highly important, shade to raspberry. Sunny yellows range to golds and pimientos. Slates, greiges, spices provide a fall-from-neutral look.

American Music Discussed By C. Mullikin

BURLEY — Sweet Adelines sang several selections for members of the Burley Music Club during a regular meeting at the home of Mrs. Calvin Heininger. The group is directed by Clifford Mullikin. American music was discussed by Mullikin.

"American music has been greatly influenced by the National Federation of Music Clubs. As early as 1909 the federation issued awards to outstanding American composers," he stated. "The sponsorship of National Music Week each year during May has helped promote music in America."

"There is no particular style to American music, it was borrowed from many countries as people from around the world moved to America. America is now in a position of leadership in the music world," Mullikin stated. In this country we have more orchestras, opera companies and school orchestras than in any other country.

Mrs. William Sugg, chairman of the nominating committee, presented her report.

Officers elected were Mrs. Heininger, president, second term; Mrs. Keith Farris, first vice president, second term; Mrs. Thomas Wildman, second vice president, junior counselor and Music Week chairman; Mrs. Evard Gibby, secretary, and Mrs. Earl Reynolds, treasurer, both for a second term, and Mrs. Richard Dalton, historian.

Officers will be installed during the May meeting at the Ponderosa Inn, under the direction of the past presidents. Mrs. Donald Norton announced the hymn of the month was "Christ the Lord Is Risen Today," by Charles Wesley. Mrs. Elizabeth Clark, a guest, sang the hymn, accompanied by Mrs. Mack Crouch.

A poster contest is being conducted and will be displayed at the Burley Public Library. An art exhibit by local artists will be on display at the Burley Elks Hall.

The Singing Mothers of several LDS Churches will present a concert at 8 p.m. May 7 at the Burley High School.

Mrs. Mullikin reported plans for closing event of Music Week.

Elmore Man Declines Job On Council

GLENN'S FERRY, Idaho (AP) — State Rep. A. W. Joslyn, D-Elmore, of Glenn's Ferry, said today the press of his personal business prevents his acceptance of an appointment to the Idaho Legislative Council.

The council, at its meeting earlier this month, named Joslyn to fill a vacancy created by the resignation of Rep. Vernon Ravenscroft, D-Goosing.

Joslyn's election was over the opposition of Democrats in the Idaho House of Representatives. Their leader, Rep. Darrell Manning, D-Bannock, a council member, told the council the House Democrats wanted Rep. Herman McDevitt, D-Bannock, named to the vacancy.

Manning said all House Democrats, except McDevitt, would refuse to accept the appointment.

Joslyn made public a letter addressed to the co-chairmen of the council, Sen. R. H. Young, R-Canyon, and Rep. William J. Lanting, R-Twin Falls. He said it "is a very great

T.F. Youth Is Winner of Tempe Music Scholarship

William Hoffman, son of Rev. and Mrs. Donald Hoffman, 119 7th Ave. E., won the state Tempe music award and will receive a scholarship to attend the Arizona All-State High School Music Camp June 26-July 9 at Arizona State University, Tempe, Ariz.

The auditions were held Sunday at the YM-YWCA, Twin Falls, and were attended by young musicians from throughout the state. Susan John, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Burton John, Pocatello, was chosen as alternate. Mrs. Donald Youtz, audition chairman, said only one scholarship is granted per state.

The scholarship, given by the National Musicians Federation, will pay for the recipient's room and board, six private lessons and all class fees.

Prior to winning this scholarship, Hoffman won the local musicians' contest by receiving a superior rating for his musical abilities.

"My employment in the railroad industry places me in an embarrassing position. I work on an indefinite schedule, and at irregular hours and I cannot plan my schedule in advance."

"The work of the Legislative Council is important to the State of Idaho and every member should be in attendance at all meetings and take an active part in the program."

"Knowing that I could not fulfill this obligation and also being aware of the fact that there are other capable legislators available, I regretfully decline the appointment."

"He said it 'is a very great

Governors Turn to Issue Of Far West

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Western governors turn today from criticism of the Johnson administration's war on inflation to one of the Far West's major issues—hundreds of millions of acres of federal land exempt from state and local taxes.

Local governments rightly contend that "tax-exempt federal property seriously impedes their capacity to provide increased public services demanded by the fast growing communities," Sen. Alan Bible, D-Nev., told the Western Governors Conference.

Governors of 12 western states and two territories want to work in earnest in trying to take possession of some of this land and use it for their own booming population.

They concentrated on this western problem after discussing Tuesday the national issue of inflation.

A representative of President Johnson, Francis Bryant, director of the Office of Emergency Planning, asked the chief executives to go slow in state spending to help stop inflation.

Bryant, former governor of Florida, said Johnson could seek legal authority to halt rising prices "but he has chosen the voluntary way."

Gov. Mark Hatfield of Oregon, a Republican, replied the President was asking the states to cut back while federal spending rose.

Another Republican, Gov. Robert E. Smylie of Idaho said, "I don't think we have any non-essential state spending."

And a Democrat, Gov. Grant Sawyer of Nevada, said he sympathized with the President's request, although he did not think it would be followed.

Prompt Tax Increase Is Ruled Out

CHICAGO (AP)—President Johnson's chief economic adviser ruled out today any immediate tax increase to arrest inflationary pressures.

Gardner Ackley, chairman of the Council of Economic Advisers, said the administration feels that restraints imposed on the economy last winter, coupled with the cooperation of industry and labor, will be an adequate hedge.

His talk to the annual convention of the Supermarket Institute added new assurance that a tax increase is not now part of any administration anti-inflation program.

Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey told a meeting of The Associated Press in New York Monday that he would bet against an anti-inflationary tax increase now.

Ackley urged full cooperation of the food industry in controlling food prices which during March averaged 6.5 per cent above a year earlier.

Has Problems

OMAHA, Neb. (AP)—Airman Ron Wegener of Offutt Air Force Base has romantic problems.

He didn't believe the news that his girl friend, Diana Wilkens of Wauwatosa, Wis., had been crowned America's Junior Miss—but he soon found out it was true, to his misfortune.

"I called her six nights in a row," Wegener said Tuesday. "And she was out every night."

Now he and Diana are trying to have Omaha included on her projected 50-state tour this summer.

Wegener says that seems to be his best chance for a date.

Last Honor Paid Mrs. Lattimer

BURLEY—Funeral services for Mrs. Isabel R. Lattimer, Eden resident, were held Monday in the Burley Christian Church with Rev. Donald Hoffman and Rev. Warren Sechler officiating.

Keith Johansen, soloist, sang two selections accompanied by Louella Scheer. Ushers were Pete Wall and Blair Gochour.

Pallbearers were Guy Lattimer, Dorrance Lattimer, Morris Lattimer, William Thompson and Roy Goible.

Floral arrangements were under the direction of Viva Haight, Louise Stevens, Evelyn Judevine, Ruth Teasley, Verda Fuller, Edith Kossman and Myrtle Snodgrass.

Final rites were held in the Gem Memorial Gardens.

Bone Cancer Patient Is Optimistic

CONSTANTINE, Mich. (AP)—Larry Rink and Harry Griffith had similar forms of cancer of the bone. Both fought for life last month in similar experimental operations.

Now Rink knows that Griffith is dead.

"It sort of shocked me at first," said Rink, 23, of the southwest Michigan community of Centerville. But, he said, he is still optimistic and is even shopping for an artificial leg.

Afraid? he was asked.

"No, not really. Not any more."

Doctors removed Rink's leg last May, hoping to check the progress of his tumor. It didn't work.

"Everybody knew except my wife and I that I had six chances out of seven it could come back," Rink said. "They never said anything to me about it."

But when Griffith, 63, of suburban Philadelphia, and Robert F. Allen, 29, of Tucson, Ariz., took part in a cancer-transplant experiment, Rink's doctors thought there was new hope.

Rink flew to Buffalo, N.Y., where doctors at Roswell Park Memorial Institute paired him with Thomas E. Welker, 21, of Monrad, Mont., and repeated the prospective cure.

Cancerous tissue was removed from each victim and transplanted into the other. It was hoped each man's body would build up antibodies to fight the foreign matter—and the victim's own cancer, as well.

Griffith died Monday despite

Any Ideas?

SALT LAKE CITY (AP)—Got an idea on how to move a 10-ton lump of coal—cheap?

Tell U. S. Fuel Co. It's trying to move a lump that size which for years has been in the State Capitol. The lump got an eviction notice from the state because it is in the way of a renovation project.

The University of Utah is willing to take it. But U. S. Fuel says so far everyone willing to move the coal wants too much money.

Capitol officials say a house moving firm is considering moving the lump, and at a price that seems reasonable.

Home Factor Discussed in Delinquency

GOODING — Home environment was listed as one of the major causes of juvenile problems by Mrs. Zoe Ann Shaub, Twin Falls County Probate Judge, when she spoke to members of the Gooding PTA Monday night.

Judge Shaub pointed out that economic status has a very direct bearing on juvenile problems, as well as divorce, activities and attitudes of the parents.

She pointed out that the over-protective parent can cause as much damage to a child as the indifferent one. Judge Shaub also stated that there seems to be a lack of family unity now, and that families should strive to do things together as much as possible.

She also stated that there are many causes for juvenile problems outside the homes, including the fact that schools are partially to blame, since they do not have facilities to provide courses of education needed by today's youth.

Especially needed are facilities for teaching trades to children who are academically behind others of their age in school, she declared.

She urged parents to listen to their children and to be aware of problems indicated by so-called "little things," which may indicate later serious problems.

Mrs. Jim Davis sang a devotional song, with Kay Rogers as accompanist. Rev. Herman Pope of the Church of Christ, gave the invocation.

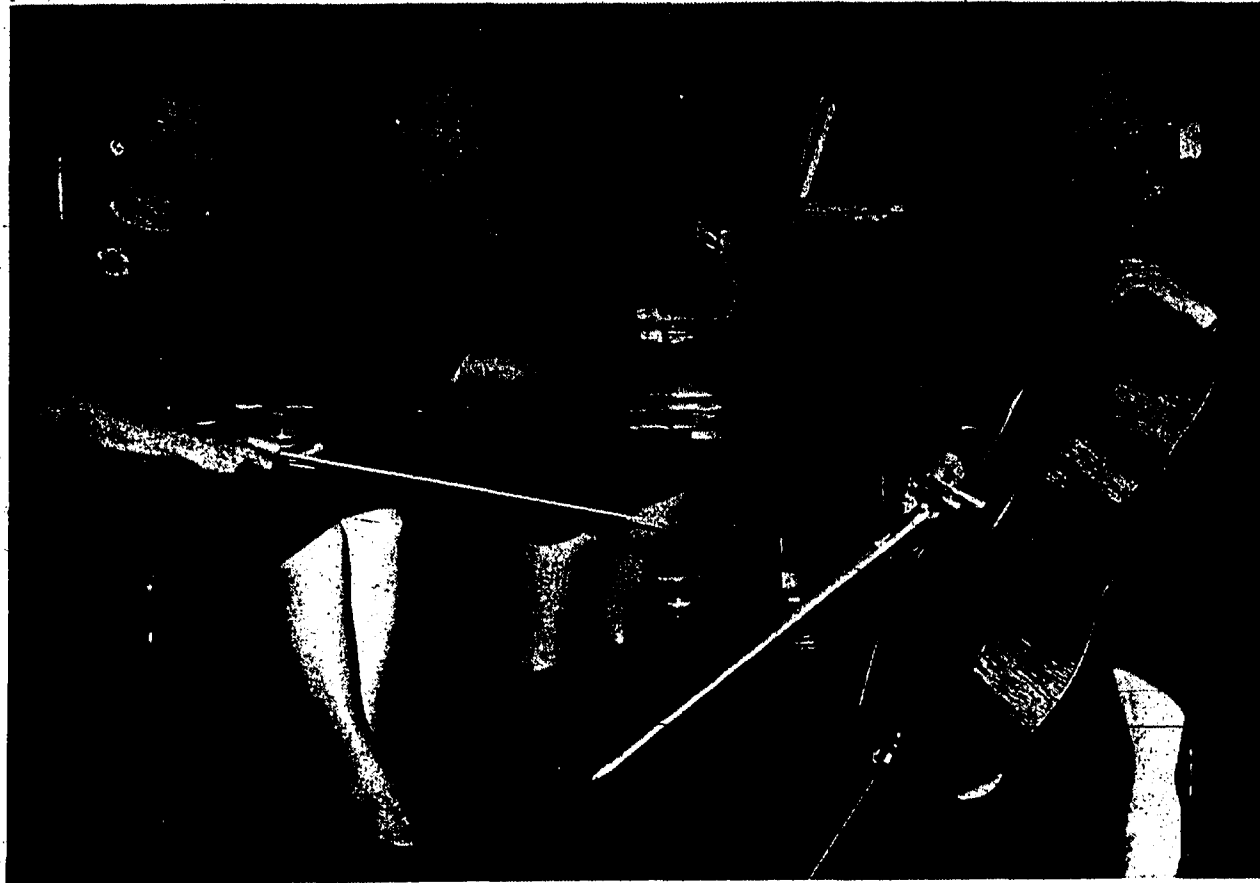

Mrs. Robert Esterbrook was announced as chairman of the teachers' luncheon to be held May 19. Mrs. Ralf Lucke, scholarship chairman, announced that the PTA scholarship has been awarded to Sharon Bean, a home economics major at the University of Idaho. Miss Bean had 3.6 average for the last semester.

Mrs. Jack Rice reported on the speech clinic which is being conducted by Mrs. Welliver Miller, therapist. Mrs. Miller has had 12 students referred to her for two classes per week. Two will require prolonged therapy and the others are for a short time.

Mrs. Darrell Schnitzer, hospitality chairman, stated that the attendance awards were won by Mrs. Adelaide Gerard's fifth grade and Mrs. Dale Butler's sixth grade.

Mrs. Lauren Shaver, outgoing president, installed the new officers, who are Mrs. Rice, president; Mrs. Robert Anderson, vice president; Mrs. Schnitzer, secretary; and Mrs. Dennis Summers, treasurer.

Mrs. Velma Allen presented her sixth grade class in several musical selections. Sixth grade mothers served refreshments with Mrs. Lloyd Lierman as chairman.

Bellini Trio to Appear at Concert of Singing Mothers

Special guest artists during the Singing Mothers concert Saturday at the Twin Falls LDS Stakehouse, Maurice Street North, will be the Bellini Trio, a string trio composed of Mrs. Teala Bellini, piano; Mrs. Henry Coiner, cello; and Mrs. Del Slaughter, violin.

The Singing Mothers, composed of 75 women from Murtaugh, Kimberly, Filer, Buhl, Castleford and Twin Falls, will present the concert at 8 p.m. in the stakehouse. Director is Mrs. John Stout, Kimberly, and accompanists are Mrs. John R. Coleman and Mrs. Norman Herzinger, both Twin Falls.

Mrs. Bellini, who started studying music at the age of 5, has made several professional appearances in Idaho. She has been listed in Prominent Women of California in 1929, Who's Who of California and the West in 1948, International Who's Who in Music in 1951 and 1953, Who's Who of American Women first, second, third and fourth editions; Who's Who of the West, volumes seven, eight and nine, and Dictionary of International Biography volumes one and two.

Mrs. Bellini was elected a life member of the "International Institute of Arts and Letters of Zurich, Switzerland," in 1981 and in February, 1965, she was elected a member of International Platform Association.

She is a member of the "Idaho music Teacher's Association," National Piano Teacher's Guild and the Soroptimist Club.

Mrs. Coiner has studied cello with Prof. J. J. Smith, College of Idaho, and has played in the College of Idaho symphony. She also has played at Idaho State University.

Mrs. Slaughter has taught sixth grade and vocal music in the Hansen School System and has been playing in the Twin Falls Civic Symphony and several other instrumental groups.

Mrs. Slaughter began the study of the violin during the second grade with the late L. Roubidoux. She also has studied under Prof. Harold Mealy, Idaho State University. In late 1947 she was a winner in the Idaho Student Musicians Contest and a winner of the tri-state District Student Musicians Contest.

Mrs. Slaughter was a member of the Idaho State Symphony through four years of high school and two years of college — soloing with the group in 1950.

She has been a member of the University of Utah Symphony, Boise Community Symphony, Boise Philharmonic and presently is with the Twin Falls Community Symphony and the Delatante Orchestra of Magic Valley.

She also has performed with various small instrumental groups as a soloist.

Redeem Nation

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Peace Corps volunteers working at $75 a month overseas put the rest of the nation to shame, says the president of the University of Notre Dame, the Rev. Theodore M. Hesburgh.

"In a sense, they alone in their youthful idealism and commitment, redeem us from our negligent unconcern and inhumanity," he said in a talk here.

Wendell Sets Style Revue On Thursday

Baker Asks Dismissal of Indictment

WASHINGTON (AP) — Bobby Baker has asked a federal court in Washington to dismiss an indictment charging him with tax evasion, theft and conspiracy. He contended that the grand jury was biased by the extensive publicity and illegal procedures were used to gather evidence.

Baker, former secretary of the Senate Democrats, was indicted Jan. 4 on the nine counts of grand larceny, attempted income tax evasion and conspiracy.

In a petition filed Tuesday, Baker also said FBI agents used illegal electronic eavesdropping devices to gather information pertaining to his indictment. He asked the court to bar use of that evidence.

Control Resistant Wireworms in potatoes...

Use Niran® 10-G ...and be sure!

Powerful Niran 10-G controls all wireworms in potatoes... even those which have developed resistance to many conventional insecticides.

Play it safe. Wireworms damage both potato seed pieces and infest growing tubers. Crop damage in infested soils can result in heavy culls. Wireworms can cause substantial losses of marketable production.

The most effective way to use Niran 10-G is to broadcast from 20 to 40 pounds of granules per acre before planting. Immediately work Niran 10-G into the upper 4 to 6 inches of soil. Wireworms move about in the soil. That's why broadcast application is most effective.

Be sure the soil temperature is warm enough before applying Niran 10-G. Wireworms do not move near the surface of the soil until the temperature is warm enough. Soil temperatures are generally too cool prior to April 1. Follow directions carefully for most effective use.

Niran 10-G is a powerful chemical. Treat it with respect. Read and follow directions on the label carefully.

YOUR BIRTHDAY and HOROSCOPE

WEDNESDAY, April 27—Born today, you have an exceptionally keen mind of the sort that absorbs knowledge like a sponge. Do not think, however, that because learning comes easily to you, that you need not make no real effort to succeed in the world. To have knowledge is not to employ it — and not to employ it is, in essence, not to have it. Learn to use what you have to the best advantage — and remember that in this regard you must offer your services if they are not sought after.

Your sharpness of mind and your natural ability for using words effectively can combine to give you a reputation for being a wit. Take care, however, that you do not use your wit for destructive purposes. To tear another down with words is not difficult; what is difficult, however, and where you could render service to others, is to use words to build another up and to make him believe it.

You have a great need for affection but are somewhat disabled from being demonstrative yourself because of a certain shyness when in the presence of the opposite sex. It should not be difficult for you to choose a mate — but it may be extremely difficult for you to persuade him or her into marriage, for you may not be able to display your true feelings.

To find what is in store for you tomorrow, select your birthday and read the corresponding paragraph. Let your birthday star be your daily guide.

Thursday, April 28
TAURUS (April 21-May 21) — If a journey is necessary in order to culminate a business contact, this would be a good day for making preparations.

GEMINI (May 22-June 21) — One of your best days this month. Take full advantage of both social and business offerings. See to family matters.

CANCER (June 22-July 23) — Make definite advances along business or professional lines. Good fortune should carry over to bring romantic aspects at evening.

LEO (July 24-Aug. 23) — Your most vital interests should already be advanced at this time. This is a day for acting upon plans long made, ideas long thought out.

VIRGO (Aug. 24-Sept. 23) — A day for good results — but only if you put your talents to work for you in the right place at the right time. Keep alert to opportunity.

LIBRA (Sept. 24-Oct. 23) — "The bigger they are, the harder they fall." Bear this in mind and you should be able to meet the opposition with confidence.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) — A good time for improving your status through the efforts of your employer. Know how to lead while seeming to follow!

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 22) — The diplomat brings home the bacon today. If forced to take sides, do so with a minimum of argument, a maximum of tact.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23 - Jan. 20) — A good time for making a change in your employment, either within your present organization or otherwise.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21-Feb. 19) — Much will be offered today, but little will be worth taking. Make your choice warily and without great expectations.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 21) — Pay close attention to matters at hand. If you take care of the present, the future should take care of itself, and to your advantage.

ARIES (March 22-April 20) — Seek your success today on a broad scale. This is no time for limiting yourself out of modesty or fear.

Petty Theft

OFFERLE, Kan. (AP) — For two months, Gary Herbert, a filling station operator, found money missing from his cash register.

Over that period three $20 bills, a $10 bill, and three $1 bills disappeared.

Monday Herbert caught the culprit redhanded when he opened the cash register. It was a mouse.

Small bits of currency were in the drawer. "I'm still hoping to find the 20s in good enough condition to turn them in for replacement," said Herbert.

IOC Awards 1972 Summer Olympics to Munich and Winter Games to Sapporo

ROME (AP) — In the most tension-packed session of its history, the International Olympic Committee Tuesday awarded the 1972 Summer Olympic Games to Munich, Germany, and the Winter Games to Sapporo, Japan. The IOC rejected bids from cities in United States, Canada, Spain and Finland to give Germany its first Olympics since 1936 when Hitler was in power. It made Japan an Olympic host for the second time in eight years. Pre-vote speculation favored Munich and Sapporo. But the choice, nonetheless, stirred bitterness, particularly among Canadians who had fought to get an Olympics for their country for the first time.

Robinson's Homer Paces Chicago Win

WASHINGTON (AP)—Floyd Robinson's two-run homer in the first inning staked the Chicago White Sox to an early lead and they beat the Washington Senators 4-1 Tuesday behind the combined seven-hit pitching of Joel Horlen and Eddie Fisher. Robinson extended his hitting streak through all 11 games this season. Tommy Agee led off with a single off loser Diego Segui, and scored ahead of Robinson. The latter added a double in the eighth inning. Chicago 220 000 000—4 7 2 Washington 000 100 000—1 7 0 Horlen, Fisher (9) and Romano, Martin (9); Segui, Lines (2), Humphreys (5), Cheney (8), and Camilli. W—Horlen, 1-1. L—Segui, 1-1. Home runs—Chicago, Robinson (2).

Alou Paces Braves' Rout Over Giants

SAN FRANCISCO (A) Felipe Alou lashed five hits, including two homers and two doubles, as the Atlanta Braves buried the San Francisco Giants 11-3 Tuesday night. Alou, who has hit in all of the Braves' 14 games, boosted his average to .393 with his five-for-five performance. He smashed the first pitch of the game from Bob Bolin into the left field stands, he triggered the three-run third with a leadoff double, homered again at the start of the fourth, singled in the five-run sixth and doubled in the seventh. Willie Mays once again was thwarted in his attempt to become the National League's all-time home run hitter. He walked, grounded out and doubled before being removed from the game after the sixth inning when the game was beyond doubt. He shares the league homer record at 511 with the late Giant, Mel Ott. Atlanta 000 003 000J 3 5 1 Cloninger, Carroll (6) and Torre; Bolin, Priddy (3), McDaniel (6), Herbel (7) and Haller, Barton (7). W—Cloninger 2-1. L—Bolin 2-2. Home runs—Atlanta, Alou 2 (5), Aaron (4), Torre (5).

Lakers Push NBA Playoffs To Full Limit

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Los Angeles carried the National Basketball Association championship series back to Boston for the final game when the Lakers stunned the Celtics 123-115 Tuesday night to deadlock the best-of-seven series at 3-3. In the second period Tuesday, Los Angeles burst to a 16-point lead, 60-44 when Boston's offensive game disintegrated in a disastrous period of four minutes. The Celtics lost eight points on charging fouls and trailed at the half 68-58. Rebounding fiercely and finding the range from the floor in the third quarter, the defending champion Celtics scrambled back into contention. They outscored Los Angeles in the period, 32-21, and took a 90-89 lead going into the final stanza. In the frantic final quarter, the advantage alternated before the Lakers edged in front 101-96 on clutch long-range shots by Jerry West and Elgin Baylor. The Lakers continued their surge in the next two minutes. They cut loose with a fast break that outsped the Boston defense and put the game out of reach. In the streak, Los Angeles scored six straight points — one basket by Rudy LaRusso and two in a row by the unerring West, and took a commanding 107-96 lead with only 6:24 remaining. In the final minutes, Los Angeles played just to match points with Boston and won easily.

Football Hall of Fame Adds Four

NEW YORK (AP) — Four pioneers of college football who became legends in the days of iron men were inducted, one of them posthumously, Tuesday night into the National Football Hall of Fame. They were Johnny McGovern, the University of Minnesota's first All-America who died two years ago at the age of 78; John Houghton Hubbard, 80, Amherst halfback; Everett Bacon, 76, Wesleyan quarterback, and Bishop Frank Juhon, 77, a line-backer on the giant-killer University of the South teams at Sewanee.

Indians Blank A's 4-0 for Ninth in Row

CLEVELAND (AP) — The undefeated Cleveland Indians, led by Luis Tiant's three-hit pitching, beat the Kansas City Athletics 4-0 Tuesday night for their ninth victory, tying an American League record for the most consecutive victories at the start of the season. The record was set by the St. Louis Browns in 1944. The major league record is 10, shared by the 1955 Brooklyn Dodgers and the 1962 Pittsburgh Pirates. Home runs by Larry Brown and Duke Sims helped Tiant to his second victory in two starts. The 25-year-old right-hander struck out 12 in registering his second shutout. Kansas City 000 000 000—0 3 1 Cleveland 010 030 00X—4 6 1 Dobson, Dickson (8) and Suarez; Tiant and Sims. W—Tiant 2-0. L—Dobson 1-1. Home runs — Cleveland, Brown (1), Sims (2).

DeVincenzo Victor in Dallas Open

DALLAS (AP) — Roberto DeVincenzo charged from four strokes back with a four-under-par 67 Tuesday and won the $15,000 first money in the Dallas Open Golf Tournament with a 276 total for 72 holes. The sturdy man from the Argentine started the final round tied for ninth place. He lost ground only once as he moved over the muddy 6,923-yard Oak Cliff Country Club course to pass Harold Henning and John Lotz, who were tied for the lead at 54 holes. Henning ended with a one-over-par 72 and a 72-hole total of 277 to tie for second with Ray Floyd and Joe Campbell. Floyd finished with a 67 and Campbell 69. Each won $5,800. Lotz, on the way to at least a tie for second place with Henning, took a double bogey on the 16th hole and lost his big chance at a championship. He overshot the green, tried to come back, did not get over a hump and wound up with a six. Lotz finished with a 73 and a total of 278. Doug Sanders and Gay Brewer, the tournament favorites, faltered on the final day and had over-par rounds to finish down the list.

Fullmer Halts Harrington in 10-Rounder

HONOLULU (AP)—Don Fullmer of Salt Lake City, Utah, younger brother of Gene Fullmer, former world middleweight champion, punched out a unanimous 10-round decision over Honolulu veteran Stan Harrington Monday night—and may have earned a middleweight title shot. Fullmer, 27, was too strong and too young for the 32-year-old Harrington. Fullmer closed strong to take the rousing fight 49-47 on judge Louis Freitas' card. Judge Edward Higa had it 48-46 and referee Walter Cho, 49-45. Fullmer won the first two rounds but Harrington staggered the younger boxer twice in the third with right hands to the head. Both fighters were rocked in the fourth round, and in the fifth Fullmer sliced open a cut on Harrington's left cheek, but there were no knockdowns. Fullmer is ranked number four in the division by the World Boxing Association and Harrington is number one junior middleweight.

Orioles Use Homers to Trim Angels

BALTIMORE (AP) — The streaking Baltimore Orioles smacked four homers, one by Brooks Robinson, and defeated the California Angels 7-3 Tuesday night for their seventh straight victory. The Angels also hit two homers in spacious Memorial Stadium as all the runs were scored on roundtrippers. Jose Cardenal opened the game with a solo homer off Oriole starter Jim Palmer, who was relieved by Dick Hall in the sixth after a two-run blast by Bobby Knoop narrowed the Baltimore lead to 4-3. California 100 001 000—3 7 0 Baltimore 022 000 21X—7 12 0 McGlothlin, Sanford (5), Sukla (7), Egan (8), Burdette (8) and Rodgers; Palmer, Hall (6) and Etchebarren. W — Palmer 2-0. L—McGlothlin 1-1. # Oregon, Washington OK Salmon Fishing; Idaho Withdraws Objections

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Oregon and Washington decided Tuesday to allow a commercial salmon fishing season in the lower Columbia River May 1-27. Idaho dropped its official objections after hearing a report there had been an exceptional early escapement of salmon up the river and getting assurance that fish officials would watch the run closely. Idaho officials earlier had urged a complete ban on commercial fishing in the river this spring and summer. The matter of the summer run will be taken up by the Oregon Fish Commission and the Washington State Department of Fisheries later.

NCAA Slaps Texas Aggies on Probation

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Texas A & M was slapped with a football probation Tuesday by the National Collegiate Athletic Association in support of prior Southwest Conference action. The universities of Richmond and Chattanooga were also cited for rule infractions.

Richmond was censured while Chattanooga went on a one-year probation but without sanctions. Under terms of its probation, Texas A&M will not be able to play in any post-season football game following the 1966 season.

The Southwest Conference put the Aggies on indefinite probation last Dec. 12 for violations of financial assistance and out-of-season practice rules. Conference sanctions prohibit the school from post-season football competition until next Jan. 15.

In December, the conference reviews the A&M athletic program and if probation is rescinded, the NCAA will take action in January.

The NCAA Council found that during the 1964-65 college year, the football coach at Texas A&M (Gene Stallings) reduced or terminated financial assistance to at least 12 student-athletes because they withdrew from intercollegiate football.

NCAA rules hold that once a grant is made, it cannot be changed merely on this basis. Further, it was found that a course in physical education was actually a case of out-of-season practice.

Richmond was reprimanded and censured on the finding that at the start of spring practice in 1965, the football coach terminated the grant-in-aid scholarship of a student-athlete because the student declined to participate in spring practice.

The infraction occurred during the football coaching tenure of Ed Merrick who now is assistant athletic director at Richmond.

At Chattanooga, a similar situation occurred when the head football coach (A. C. Moore) terminated financial assistance to two student-athletes because "in his opinion, the young men were not proficient in the sport of football and were not contributing to the success or morale of the football squad."

Further, it was determined the awards to student athletes were administered by the department of athletics rather than by the regular committee responsible for scholarships.

Chattanooga's probation lasts until April 26, 1967.

Cards Hit 13, But Dodgers Win by 4-2

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Sandy Koufax weathered 13 St. Louis hits for his third victory Tuesday night as the Los Angeles Dodgers snapped a three-game losing streak by beating the Cardinals 4-2.

The Dodgers broke a 30-inning scoreless streak in the first frame when they ambushed loser Bob Gibson, 2-1, for six hits and four runs.

Willie Davis singled, stole second and scored, the first run on Ron Fairly's single. Fairly took third on Jim Lefebvre's double before John Roseboro hit a two-out single with two out. Singles by Nate Oliver and John Kennedy brought in Roseboro.

Gibson settled down after that and shut out the Dodgers on one hit the rest of the way.—2 13 0

Yanks Rally In Ninth to Edge Boston

NEW YORK (AP) — Joe Pettone's run-scoring single clinaxed a three-run counter-rally by New York in the bottom of the ninth inning Tuesday as the Yankees pulled out of a seven-game losing slump with a 7-6 victory over Boston.

The Red Sox scored four times in the top of the ninth but the Yanks came right back.

Lou Clinton started the Yank rally with a leadoff walk against Dan Osnicki and Bobby Richardson singled. After a sacrifice, Roger Maris knocked in a run with an infield hit, another scored when Roger Repoz hit to a force play, and Tom Tresh sent Repoz to third with a single.

Pettone then clipped Ken Sanders for the decisive single. The victory was only the second for the Yankees in 12 games.

The Red Sox got their four in the top of the ninth off Whitey Ford and three relievers. Lenzie Green chased in one with a pinch single, Tony Conigliaro put two more across with a bloop hit to right, and the fourth scored on a wild pitch by rookie Dooley Womack, the winning pitcher.

Dodger Batters Get Extra Work

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Manager Walter Alton ordered the Dodgers out for extra batting practice Tuesday to correct an untidy situation in which the World Champion Los Angeles club has gone scoreless for 30 consecutive innings.

The club has dropped three straight games by 2-0 scores. The last time they got a man as far as third base was in the third inning at Chicago last Saturday.

Wings Defeat Canadiens for Series Edge

MONTREAL (AP) — The Detroit Red Wings scored four goals in the third period — after a pair of spectacular saves by goalie Roger Crozier in the opening minute — and defeated the Montreal Canadiens 5-2 Tuesday night to take 2-0 lead in the best-of-seven Stanley Cup finals.

Bruce MacGregor, celebrating his 25th birthday, shot the Red Wings into the lead for good at the 1:55 mark of the final period and teammate Ab McDonald scored 50 seconds later.

The Canadiens, outshot in every period, closed the gap at the 12-minute mark on a goal by Yvan Cournoyer but Floyd Smith got that one back for the Red Wings 12 seconds later.

Dean Prentice put the finishing touch on the Detroit scoring at 16:25.

Brazil Upsets Russia 60-58

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP) — A layup by Carlos Massoni in the closing seconds gave Brazil an upset 60-58 victory over the Soviet Union Tuesday night in the World Amateur Basketball Championships.

The defeat was the Russians' first in the final round and left the United States the only unbeaten team at 3-0 in the round-robin competition that ends Saturday.

Bulgaria beat Chile 82-76 in the first game of Tuesday's doubleheader.

Griffith Sets Title Defense, Court Suit

NEW YORK (AP) — Emile Griffith's co-manager said Tuesday the newly crowned middleweight champion will make his first defense against either Joey Archer of New York, Italy's Nino Benevenuti or ex-champion Dick Tiger. "We'll fight the one who can get us the most money, and it will be in United States," said Gil Clancy, co-manager and trainer of the 28-year-old Virgin Island native who de-throned Tiger in a close 15-rounder at Madison Square Garden Monday night.

"Sure, I'd be glad to fight Tiger again," said Griffith, sitting next to the man he beat at a news conference at the Garden. "He was a good sport to give me my chance and I'd be glad to fight him again. But it's up to my managers. They make the fights, and I fight."

He turned to face the deadpanned Tiger and said: "Give me a smile, Dick."

Tiger smiled weakly and said "You're a lucky boy."

Asked why he wanted to keep the welterweight (147 pounds) championship now that he had won the middleweight (160 pounds) crown, Griffith slammed the top of a desk and shouted:

"I got banged around a long time before I won it. I worked and sweated for five years for it. I can hold both titles and defend them both until someone beats me. I think it's a silly question."

Clancy and Howard Albert, the other co-manager, said their attorney will serve papers on the New York State Athletic Commission Wednesday and file a suit in State Supreme Court to test the right of the commission to force Griffith to vacate the welterweight title.

The commission maintains that under its rules the welterweight title was automatically vacated when Griffith won the middleweight crown. The commission said it expects to make plans soon for a welterweight tournament.

Clancy admitted that Griffith had assumed an obligation to fight for British promoter Jack Solomons since Solomons had released Tiger from a commitment to fight Benevenuti.

"We thought Griffith would defend both titles against Brian Curvis, in London, for Solomons," said Clancy, "but that went out the window when Curvis got stopped by that Frenchman (Jean Josselin) in Paris Monday night."

"We're willing to fight Benevenuti—or Archer or Tiger—but the fight would have to be held in the United States and probably right here in New York—wherever the money is."

Fashions for Bride, Bridegroom and Bridal Party

TWIN FALLS, IDAHO, WEDNESDAY, APRIL 27, 1966

TODAY'S BRIDE

VEILED IN BEAUTY is the young bride who approaches the altar on her wedding day as radiantly as tradition could demand. The bridal headdress is a huge pouf of illusion. The gigantic triple bow, caught at the center with a rose centered cluster of lilies of the valley, surrounds the head and shoulders in a fragile cloud. It was designed to go with a gown of palest ivory peau de soie, styled along simple lines to complement a fresh and youthful face and figure.

Times News

ANNUAL BRIDAL EDITION

Within the following pages you will find many ideas that will aid the 'bride to be' in planning the most memorable day of her life—her wedding day.

Brides Have Variation Of Bouquets

The bride's bouquet can have many variations — the traditional round one, or a flowing cascade, or flowers attached to a prayerbook or a small nosegay — or even a large spray carried in the arms.

The latter can prove difficult to manage, however, when it comes time to exchange rings. The flowers the bride selects for the wedding — whether demure, sophisticated or classic — are an important part of the picture created.

A florist can tell what flowers will be in season when the wedding takes place, and he'll know which flowers create effects to complement the gown and stay fresh longer. It might be a good idea to show him a sketch of the wedding gown.

Also, it is important to tell the florist the heights of the attendants so their bouquets can be sized appropriately.

Find out in advance the favorite flowers and colors of the bride's mother and the bridegroom's mother, and whether they prefer a corsage or pinning flowers to their purses.

Also tell the florist how many guests are expected at the ceremony, for this will determine the extent of the decor necessary.

Expenses for Bridegroom Are Outlined

Such items as bride's bouquet, and corsages for the two mothers, the usher's boutonnières, gloves and ties are paid for by the bridegroom.

He also picks up the bill for the first automobile ride he gives his wife after their wedding — a chauffeured limousine usually.

He foots the bills for the wedding ring, marriage license and contribution to the clergyman and the honeymoon trip.

Many a bridegroom escapes the financial responsibility of the wedding trip as it is getting to be a favorite gift to the young couple from one or the other set of parents.

A trip to Europe or a cruise to a Southern climate is the likely suggestion when parents foot the bill.

It's up to the bridegroom, to throw a bachelor dinner. And that's one party, he really enjoys.

It usually turns out to be the favorite conversational tidbit of all participants at the party who attend the wedding reception within the next day or two.

BEAUTIFUL WEDDING DRESS by Bridal Originals is modeled by Linda Hall, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Rex Tall, 1211 Alder Drive. The dress is linen look and outlining the hemline and sleeves is baroque venise lace. The dress has a detachable panel train with floral motifs. The veil is an orange blossom cap with touch of crystals and 72-inch elbow length English silk illusion. (Times-News photo)

Large Amount of Bags Unneeded For Honeymoon

No matter what kind of honeymoon you're taking, a mound of luggage is unnecessary.

One large, 28-inch suitcase plus a small piece of hand luggage is usually enough for two weeks.

Pack such items as toilet articles and cosmetics in the hand case, leaving the large suitcase free for clothes. Consider climate when packing to avoid light clothes in warm weather or heavy wool outfits in the tropics.

Select as many double-duty, easy-care items as possible preferably in simple styles.

Choose colors so you can keep accessories — handbag, shoes and gloves — to an absolute minimum, by making one set do for several outfits.

Ways Students Can Avoid Marriage Pitfalls Explained

What pitfalls — or possible future irritations — are in store for the young student couple who are planning to be married?

Can their future attitudes toward each other be examined in advance to avoid difficulty? Dr. Eliot Drisko, executive director of the Family Service Society at Yonkers, N.Y., thinks they can.

He suggests a detailed discussion between the two in which they use the timetable approach.

This will mean a lot of question asking and answering.

"The two should discuss their expectations in marriage. Are they materialistic? Do they want to work and save for a television set or a car or a trip? Or is a record collection or a series of symphony tickets more important in the immediate future?"

"If the couple must do without in certain areas because of lack of funds," he continues, "they must agree on the kind of doing without, so there'll be no animosity, or competition between the two as to who is sacrificing the most."

In the area of a wife's working to help make ends meet, certain decisions should be made in advance to avoid friction, Dr. Drisko advises.

"If she gives up college to work, will she be able to return to college when times are less hard?"

Brides Must Change Ways Of Shopping

The young wife who, in her single days, could browse through stores in leisurely fashion, Dr. Drisko says this kind of timetable discussion helps the couple to know each other's attitudes more completely.

And if a couple's need for more dollars at the start of their marriage is acute, Dr. Drisko feels there's no reason why they can't turn to their families for help.

tion and take her time over selections, will find it necessary to change her shopping ways.

Precious time is saved if she uses store catalogues and newspaper ads to shop by mail or telephone.

Once trained to do this, she'll find money-saving aspects in this approach.

Department store sales days regularly offer reductions in items like sheets, towels and curtains; toiletries such as soap and personal cosmetics, stockings and so on.

Time too is saved when comparative shopping is handled on the telephone. If a portable television set is being considered, get cost and sizes on the telephone. And when the choice is narrowed down, then the set can be personally inspected.

Casual Touch For Bridal Showers

In more formal times, showers for the bride-to-be were elaborate affairs, planned in secrecy and executed with mystery.

Because of this approach, gifts often duplicated each other, and were inappropriate to the way in which the couple planned to live.

Today's approach is more natural. The hostess consults the bride-to-be as to the kind of shower she would like, if the gifts are to be in one classification and also the most convenient time in her busy pre-wedding schedule.

There is almost no end to the types of showers a bride-to-be will enjoy. Kitchen showers, "scrub" showers featuring cleaning materials, cupboard showers to start her off with staples and spices, closet and bath accessory showers, are particularly popular.

But if the bride-to-be is already well supplied in these categories, the shower can feature gifts specially designed for her taste.

If she enjoys music, a record shower would be appreciated. Likewise a book shower.

If the two will be able to have patio parties in their new home, a barbecue shower is natural. If they're collectors of stamps, coins or certain bric a brac, such a shower is welcome.

Even the bride-to-be who is away from her home town and her old friends can be surprised with a "postal" shower, where gifts are sent by mail.

And if the couple is to be married in another part of the country, they can still be given a post-wedding shower when they return from their wedding trip.

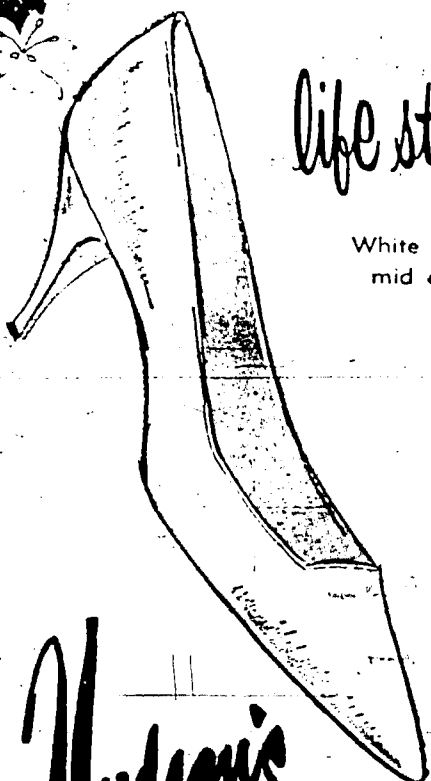

Guests then will call on the newlyweds and bring their gifts with them.

Photographs Is Must of Weddings

Much of the fun of a wedding is looking back on it, and having pictures to show the children, grandchildren and friends.

Most brides have a professional photographer take the portrait. And just like everything else about a wedding, this requires plenty of planning. First, pick a photographer. Study the work of different photographers—from friends, newspaper pictures and other sources. Decide which style pleases you, then make an appointment.

The photographer probably will advise the bride to schedule the appointment at least three weeks before the wedding, especially if the bride wants to see the picture in the local paper.

Decide where the portrait will be taken. Most pictures are set in the photographer's studio, but the bride also can choose the church where the wedding will take place, the bride's home or the bridal shop when the bride has her last fitting.

If the bride has a special feature she wants in the picture, let the photographer know in advance. Most portrait photographers keep a supply of artificial wedding bouquets as part of their equipment. This saves the expense of buying a duplicate bouquet and the flowers won't wilt under the hot lights.

Part of Bride's Beauty Comes From Lacy Veiling

According to tradition, every bride is beautiful as she walks down the aisle. Part of that beauty comes from the lacy veil which surrounds her head.

Veils come in all styles, lengths, sizes and fabrics, and must be suited to the dress, to the bride's hair-do and to the type of wedding.

Designer Helen Arnold says lace mantillas are particularly popular this year, with the lace matching that on the dress. They are available in short, shoulder length—or long styles. If the bride can afford it, the lace is often imported from France.

Also popular is the detachable veil—actually two veils in one. This style is used if the bride is wearing a long, formal gown. A short, shoulder length veil is worn for both the ceremony and the reception.

A floor length veil is attached for the ceremony only and can be removed to allow freedom of movement at the reception. Most of the short veils are, extremely bouffant, billowing around the shoulders.

The headpiece to which the veil is attached also varies widely. Simple pillbox styles which sit on top of the head are popular, especially for winter for the girl with a simple hairdo.

Mrs. Arnold says that another style-setting for this season is the lace cap which covers almost the whole head and is in keeping with the simpler hairdos which are now popular. The cap can be topped with artificial flowers, seed pearls or rhinestones.

Most of the headpieces are very small, except in July and August. This also applies to the veils for the bridesmaids. The pastel shades are most popular for bridesmaids' outfits, especially aqua, pink, light blue and pale green. Usually the bridesmaids' veils are attached to a simple bows which clips on the head. The veils are frequently detachable and the headpiece can be used as a hat later.

Mrs. Arnold notes that many girls today look for this double use in the veils they buy since cost is frequently a factor. The price of the bridal veil can range from about $35 up, depending on the size, the amount of decoration and the type of lace used.

Seed pearls are particularly popular for decoration. It is a good idea to buy the gown and veil in the same place, even if you have a family heirloom veil you'd like to use.

The store frequently can have the heirloom restyled to match your gown. The most popular fabric for headpieces is silk-faceted peau, a fabric which is similar to peau de sole, but less expensive.

Gifts Noted For Bride's Attendants

It's traditional for the bride to give wedding presents to all her attendants. That goes for bridesmaids, maid or matron of honor and even the little flower girls.

Gifts should be thought of as remembrances, so that when they are selected, they should be chosen for permanency. Perfume, compacts and other trinket-like gifts that have no lasting value are not good selections. Better to give a memento, however small, that will be around at your first anniversary.

Favorite gifts are those that may be engraved—keyring disc, pin, photograph frames, pin trays. These may be of sterling silver or gold and chosen to suit the budget.

All bridesmaids should receive the same gifts. The maid of honor should have something similar but of a little more value. But there shouldn't be an overwhelming difference in the price of the articles.

If there is one attendant, a more thoughtful or valuable gift may be given. There are no rules.

Antique salt and pepper shakers, a sterling silver tray, an old-fashioned gold bracelet are among suitable gifts.

Thank-You Notes Must Be Prompt

The one detail of the wedding is the bride's thank-you notes. Everything else will go off in apple pie order, no doubt, if she is the average bride.

But thank-you notes often are postponed and postponed until the delay is noted by those who gave the couple gifts.

A well-organized card file or book should be used to list each present as it arrives. The date of arrival, the present, the sender, the sender's address, where the present was bought and when thanks are sent should be headings strung across a page. Each gift should then be listed as it arrives and then put in a particular place until the bridal gift table is arranged.

If for some reason the bride cannot respond promptly, a card should be sent noting that the gift has been received. The bride must then write a thank-you note at the earliest moment.

Some people do get slightly miffed when a bride admits she has exchanged a present. But it would be absolutely silly to have seven pie servers or to make servers or pepper grinders. Common sense must prevail.

Something that should be kept in mind, before presents can be exchanged is that there should be a display of the gifts in a pretty setting. If there are two or three duplicates, they should be displayed so it is not noticeable. The givers will feel

Table Setting Ideas Are Listed

Bridal dinnerware, like silver, is usually bought by place settings, each of which is a basic service for one person.

The traditional setting consists of five pieces: dinner plate, salad plate, butter plate and cup and saucer. Another basic item, not included in the setting, is a small bowl to use for such things as soup, cereal and fruit.

embarrassed and rue their choices if the duplication is too noticeable.

The note of thanks shouldn't sound like one you rattled off. It is inexcusable to write: "thank you very much for the gift" or even "thank you for the linen."

Some appropriate comment should be made, and a warm implication left that you really mean it when you say something.

Most dinnerware is either china, earthenware or plastic. China is made of china clay and china against the light and it rings with a clear tone when tapped.

Earthenware also is made of clays but it is opaque, porous and non-resonant. It often is more informal in design.

Traditions Surrounding Bridal Dresses Are History

Something old, something new, something borrowed, something blue.

No one knows exactly where that rhyme about a bride's wedding outfit began. But many of the other traditions surrounding bridal dress are rooted in history.

The white wedding dress and veil worn in most Judeo-Christian weddings around the world today dates back to biblical times.

Hebrew brides wore white for purity and were completely enveloped in veils that symbolized submission, modesty and virginity.

In ancient Greece, it was the custom for brides to spin the flax, weave the cloth and do the sewing for their wedding dresses, also of white.

The Romans carried on the tradition of white. Girls were married in white robes fringed with purple.

The flowing Roman wedding veils, called flammeum, were associated with brides in the bright yellow. They were held in place with wreaths of ver-bena which the brides had to gather themselves.

In some parts of the world today, especially in provincial areas of Europe, girls are married in their traditional folk costumes. Since these gowns are so intricately designed and costly, they also are used as holiday outfits.

The bride adds some accessory to the costume to indicate she is getting married. In Norway, a silver filigree brooch is pinned to the blouse of the folk costume.

In Austria and Bavaria, flowered and jeweled bridal crowns and substituted for more ordinary hats.

Girls in certain Swiss mountain cantons carry long white linen handkerchiefs as symbols of purity when being married. The red woolen braid pinned to the bride's wreath in the Ukraine has a similar meaning.

The color red is traditionally associated with brides in the Orient. Everything made for the Chinese wedding used to be colored red—including the invitations, the sweetmeats and the dyed eggs that guests hunted as omens of good fortune.

In 17th and 18th century Persia, white wedding dresses were worn with crimson veils, and in Arabic and Hindu countries the bride's hands and feet were stained with henna for the wedding day.

In Japan the bride wears three layers of kimonos. The outer one is patterned and sashed in red, but is predominantly white, the Oriental color of mourning.

This symbolizes that the bride is dead to her parents once she has moved to her husband's home.

The bridal gowns of India and Southeast Asia are particularly luxurious. Wedding saris are woven of rich parrot silks and often have threads of pure gold and silver.

Luggage for Wedding Trip Tips Listed

If either the prospective bride or bridegroom is going to need new luggage for the wedding trip, it's best to look before leaping into purchases.

Manufacturers deluge the stores with the newest, the lightest, the most water-repellent, the most durable — and the problem of selection is magnified.

One criterion for purchase is the luggage's long-term use. How much traveling for business and pleasure, will the two be doing in the future? By what means of transportation?

A salesman who's on the road a great deal can handle — and may need — a large suitcase with hangers to keep his suits in perfect order.

On the other hand, an occasional traveler may be able to manage with a good-sized attache case, since a couple of shirts are sufficient for a four-day business trip.

What about the bride's future life? If she's to be living in cramped quarters, out-of-season clothes can be stored in suitcases, and tucked under the bed or high up in an inaccessible closet. In this case, she might choose a larger case.

Indispensable to both, regardless of the size of the larger pieces, is an overnight case. The attache case can serve this purpose, or a flight bag, or a train case.

Other suitable, easy-to-carry overnights are plaid or plain carry-alls, that on other occasions can go to the beach or off on a picnic.

Tradition Keynotes Invitations

Tradition keynotes the wedding invitation. The bride may choose a lettering she prefers, a bridal paper from the choice of white, ivory or cream colors and the engraving or printing.

But when it comes to the invitation itself, she does not deviate from custom.

Invitations are ordered about three months before the wedding day and may be sent out three weeks to one month before the wedding.

Many points of etiquette are involved in the issuing of invitations.

If parents of the bride are divorced, the mother gives the invitation alone, or it may be issued with her new husband.

She may prefer to issue the church invitation alone, but join the bride's father in the reception since he will be the host.

If parents are dead, custom is that some male relative or guardian of the bride issue the invitation.

For a large formal wedding, the invitation is engraved or printed on the first page of a folded sheet. The reception invitation is on a smaller card.

Each card is put into an envelope which is left unsealed.

All three envelopes must be addressed. The outside envelope carries the name, street address and city. Inner envelopes are addressed with the name or names of the person invited.

For a reception at home and a small informal wedding, a person may use a hand written note.

Diamonds Are Available in Wide Variety

Today's traditional diamond rings are all dressed up in new styles.

The classically plain designs, such as the solitaire, are held by either four-prong or six-prong Tiffany settings. Oval and heart-shaped diamonds, called fancy cuts, also are set as solitaires, usually in slender platinum prongs.

Illusion settings also are very popular this year. They give a larger appearance to a small center diamond because metal is built up around the stone, causing the white of the metal to blend into the blaze of the gem.

Reflector settings are another way in which a small diamond can be made to appear larger. A round plate of polished white gold surrounds the small diamond. The reflected diamond sparkle on the metal extends the true size of the gem.

For the woman who prefers ornate rings, there are numerous styles featuring engravings on the ring band. Delicate orange blossoms, and swirling scrolls run up the shoulders of the ring. Sometimes metal is faceted on either side of the center diamond to resemble baguettes.

A variety of diamond cuts may be set into the ring to produce a pattern. For example, a large round center diamond flanked on the sides by small marquise diamonds looks like a daisy.

Especially new this year are contour ring sets. Both the engagement diamond and the wedding band, when worn together, seem to be molded in the same design. A tiny metal prong at the top of the contoured wedding band fits snugly into a slot beneath the top of the engagement ring.

Symmetrical and off-set designs appeal to some women. The topside design of the ring purposely is made to lean either to the right or left on top of the finger. Most of these designs have a large center diamond with smaller stones flanking it. The wedding band designed for this type of ring usually is curved, or has a similar design so it fits into the engagement band.

The metal for the engagement ring depends on price and personal preference. Yellow gold, white gold and platinum are particularly popular. The mounting — the part of the ring which encircles the finger — can be of yellow gold, while the head is platinum. The prongs in the head of the ring always are made of platinum.

Wedding Cake, Drink Essential

The only essential food at the wedding reception is the wedding cake and something to drink.

Many brides prefer an old-fashioned wedding cake — with little favors hidden in certain sections of the cake for the bridal attendants. These objects are wrapped in aluminum foil or waxed paper and make for jolly laughter when a bridesmaid discovers her treasure.

These include the traditional thimble signifying a girl will be an "old maid," a needle and thread, meaning she will work hard all her life, a little wedding ring that indicates she will be the next girl married.

All Social Costs Should Be Watched

One of the hardest budgetary facts of life for a young couple to accept is the high cost of entertainment.

As single individuals living in their own homes, they had been accustomed to putting on parties, and wining and dining their friends out of the parental freezer and liquor closet. Theater and concert tickets made their appearance via a check from dad.

Things are very different when the couple is on its own. But there are ways to enjoy friends and continue to socialize without spending much money. All it takes is a new attitude toward entertainment.

If the couple has musically-minded friends, invite them in for a record evening. Or plan a bridge game and as refreshments have cokes, coffee and store cookies.

Since the entertainment at dinner cuts too much out of the food budget, if the couple wants to serve a meal, make it a Saturday or Sunday brunch on the non-elaborate kind. An egg dish, rolls and coffee plus a canned juice will do the trick.

If there's an interesting television special, invite some friends to watch it.

Revolution In Trousseau Buying Noted

When today's bride-to-be goes shopping for wedding gown and trousseau, she's very likely to bring someone along with her — and that someone isn't necessarily her mother.

According to Mrs. Barbara Wilson, a Florida bridal salon manager, many young business girls shopping on their lunch hours tend to bring along their apartment roommates to help make their decisions, and then, as a courtesy, ask mother to view the collection.

When it's time for the bridesmaids to choose their gowns, Mrs. Wilson often gets into the position of referee.

"It's become more and more common for the bridesmaid to pay for her own dress and everyone is conscious of the fact she's using her own money. So the bride will say, 'It's up to the girls. Let them choose style and color.'"

"So in come five or six girls, each determined, absolutely determined, to be personally suited. What do they do? They wind up voting on color and style, and then everyone is pleased."

The bridegroom, more and more, is taking a part in his fiancée's clothes buying. Many men have held minute discussions with their future wives on styles. Some have even been known to come to bridal fashion shows and make remarks.

Even if mother does come with her daughter for the initial selecting, she's likely to include the fiancée's fashion views in her discussion. She'll ask her daughter: "Do you think John will like it?"

Advance Planning Required For Any Size of Wedding

Even the simplest wedding requires advance planning and decision-making. And the large, formal wedding with a reception for hundreds can be so involved that six months can easily be spent in arrangements.

Plans start the moment the couple decides on a wedding date. At that point, the bride would do well to buy a notebook in which she will list her appointments, shopping dates and social events. If an effort to keep the weeks before the wedding less hectic.

Once the date is set, the couple must decide on the day. Often the preferred hours must be changed because the minister is not available, the church is already booked or the reception quarters are not available.

Another factor governing the wedding hour is the couple's honeymoon plans. If they're going to resort by plane, the travel time factor to the airport must be taken into consideration. Ditto, of course, a cruise ship departure.

The bride's family usually decides whether the wedding is to be large or small since they assume financial responsibility for it. But many bride's families sit down with the parents of the bridegroom and discuss these details.

There will be a lot of budget juggling before the final decision is made: how many to invite to the church, how many to the reception. Many brides limit invitations to the ceremony, inviting all to the reception rather than offend some. Often the wedding must be for only the immediate family, because of financial limitations.

Some weddings get a little out of hand with mothers or sisters insisting on long lists of their own friends to attend as if it were a family house party. It's the bride's day and it is she who should list the guests — hers and the bridegroom's.

The choice of wedding is usually made from these basic styles:

A large church, club, hotel or house wedding, followed by a large reception. If a large wedding is held at home, the reception usually is held in the garden. Preparations for the possibility of rain are made. A small wedding in a church, home or club with a large reception later.

A large formal or semi-formal wedding at a church, hotel or club, followed by a small reception at which only intimate friends are invited.

The wedding may be a small one without a planned reception. The bride and groom will then greet their friends after the wedding wherever it is held.

Adequate Time for Planning Wedding, Details of First Home Is Six Months

Six months should be adequate time to plan a wedding and details connected with the first-home.

Six months before the wedding, the bride should make a date with the church, enlist the clergyman and organist at the same time. Shop for the place of reception. A club may be less expensive and cosier for the purpose than a hotel.

On the other hand the hotel may have a better selection of dates. List the fees of clergyman and organist and the approximate cost of the wedding reception.

It's a good idea to consult with wedding caterers early, if the reception is to be held at home. Some caterers are not equipped to handle more than one reception on a given date.

Consult with interior designers, if the bride plans to have one. There are many questions that "may be resolved" at the first meeting.

It is traditional that the family of both the bride and bridegroom are permitted the same number of guests. The lists usually are compiled by the bride in consultation with her family, and the bridegroom in consultation with his, once bride and bridegroom have prepared their personal lists.

The size of the wedding party will grow and grow unless the first decision is considered final. College girls like to include all past-roommates as bridesmaids and some wedding get a little involved unless she remembers there is a certain amount of expense connected with each invitation to a bridesmaid.

If there is a traditional wedding gown in the family — grandma's or mother's, the need for shopping may be scratched. But one word of caution — the old gown may need a little renovation. The lace may be fragile, a few pearls may be missing from it on inspection in good light.

Mother makes the first trip with the bride to the dressmaker or store where the gown will be purchased if the wedding gown in the family disappoints the bride.

With all the fittings usually necessary, there will be enough trips to please everyone who wants to be in on the important event. The bride must talk with both mothers about what they plan to wear.

She must decide on a color scheme for her wedding so that dresses do not clash. Once she decides what the maids will wear, they can purchase their dresses or the bride will do it. It is up to the bridesmaid to pay the tab for her own gown.

Furnishing Home May Be Staggering Task for Bride

A man's home may be his castle, but it's up to his wife to make the castle livable.

Furnishing a new home — either an eight-room house or a studio apartment — can be a staggering task even for an experienced home-maker.

For the new bride, who is probably working on a limited budget and isn't sure of her husband's taste, it can be almost impossible.

Furnishings experts and interior decorators and designers offer many different tips for the new homemaker, but almost all agree on two things: a home should be livable and it should express individual preferences and tastes.

The living room should be a comfortable lounge, with easy, well-proportioned chairs and room to stretch out. The new bride should remember that while she may like to curl her feet under her while reading or relaxing, her husband may prefer to stretch out his legs.

When buying furniture plan ahead. A Louis XIV sofa covered in brocade may be lovely, but will it suit your home? Are you planning a lot of formal entertainment? Or will most of the parties be informal ones where people will be sitting about casually? Think about children. Not only those you may have, but also children of your friends. If many of your acquaintances have small children which they'll be bringing to visit, you'd be wise to avoid things that spot or break easily.

Don't select your furniture without trying it out. The modern, sophisticated furniture can provide stunning decor on a budget. But first, make sure you're comfortable in low-slung, odd-shaped chairs. If you or your husband is used to traditional furniture, the modernistic style may not be appropriate for your home.

Consider individual hobbies and interests when adding accessories. Fundamental pieces of furniture combined with a few unusual trappings make an original living room. Try accessories with a foreign flavor. Mexican pottery, monkey wood bowls from the Pacific islands or a gay South American blanket thrown over a studio couch can add color and exotic feeling. If you can afford them, paintings always brighten up a room.

But decide whether you'd rather have an original by a lesser-known artist or would prefer reproductions of the old masters. An attractive frame does wonders for an ordinary print.

Bamboo goes particularly well with modern decor, and is not too expensive.

Working Wife Must Be Flexible

Busy young homemakers who also double as wage earners are forever short of time — and often, of energy.

For them, a policy of flexible housekeeping is the only practical solution.

Shopping bit by bit on the way home from work is better than a weekly seance at the supermarket, with all those bags to tote to a fourth-floor walk-up.

Dinner menus, for only a few days ahead, can be scratched in a notebook on the bus going to work.

A running list hung up in the kitchen guarantees against staples shortage.

Staples such as coffee, tea, soups and so on that are constantly needed are handy to the stove.

Even if the kitchenette is pint-sized, squeeze in a folding step-ladder, and the homemaker will be amazed at how many tasks can be done sitting down, including frying the bacon and drying the dishes.

Learn to use scraps of time while waiting for the coffee to perk or the chops to broil. She can straighten one kitchen shelf, water the house plants or even polish a few pieces of silverware, so that these chores never pile up to kill a Saturday morning.

"Easy Care and Glamorous" Describes New Sleepwear

Out of the bedroom and into the fashion spotlight! The exotic pants — yes, and ties, so why not pants for lounge-wear?

Ralph Montenero, who has set many a lingerie trend, does this one in a bright pink and green print of Crepeset nylon, with a flounce of pleats at the ankles and cowl neckline. But he also likes the straight-leg look, in turquoise and yellow print, with a turtle-neck tunic top.

Sportswear has seen a rage for bell bottoms, and Emma DeBerge finds this a graceful shape perfect to interpret in fluid crepe. Paired with a side-slit tunic tied under the arms, this one only needs its co-ordinated pom-pom bracelet (washable) to greet guests as a hostess costume. Just as glamorous, are Eve Stillman's harem pants, wide and caught in an ankle cuff, with their lace top.

That use of lace for the entire top or the entire bodice of a gown, is the new lingerie way with lace, rather than as tacked-on bands of ruffles. But if lingerie pants are being taken straight from sportswear or the Far East, gowns aren't far behind. It was a Nor-man Norell dress which Blanche Frankly credits as inspiration for their short gown bloused over a lowered waistline, in white nylon. With its satin sash and neckline trim, it's ready to skip to a party as easily as it slips into sleep.

Long gowns are following evening dress trends. Again, the women liked these new lingerie styles, gay with color, easy to live in (they could leave the bedroom with ease) or glamorously unfussy. So this spring sees a veritable explosion of lingerie styles unblushingly inspired by Norell dresses or Courreges shifts or pants, pants, pants.

Pants are as big as they've never been around for years. Fashionables are wearing wide-

Eastern look pops up in supple nylon shifts with daring side slits. In black, the cross-over halter neckline and bare back are added to the side slit. There's even the newly revived strapless neckline, elasticized to stay up, from which the gown falls in the softest folds.

Short gowns show a tendency to high-rise hemlines, like so many of the "young" dresses. Eve Stillman does a loosely shaped little gown, completely pleated, with a matching short short peignoir, fastened in front by three small bows.

But all the news isn't confined to sleep and loungewear. Foundations and slips are doing hand-springs in design to keep up with the youth trend in outerwear. The softness of crepe is just what designers need for the light, light garments wanted by today's jilted young women. It's even revived the one-piece, now called a "total brief," which does for bra, pants and slips all in one. The bra has natural shaping, and all down one side of the torso is a silk screen print on an otherwise solid color garment.

In the same feeling is the new hipster pettibrief, which combines panties and a little skirt in lieu of the usual slip. The matching bra has modified bandeau shaping, soft and easy. Both these ideas are by Frances Araby for Eve Stillman.

Regular slips, of course, are more often than not in nylon too. It slips so easily under knits without twisting around, looks so frostily pretty with a bodice of lace, or in the brightness of its own floral print with a piping of satin.

Best Man Is In Charge of Bridegroom

It is the best man who has the job of getting the bridegroom to the church on time.

The best man's duties actually start the day of the wedding rehearsal when he is responsible for taking charge of the ushers and briefing them on any special seating arrangements.

On the day of the ceremony itself, the best man gets the ring from the bridegroom. If there is a ring bearer, the best man sees that he carries out his instructions.

Some best men carry a spare ring from the dime store—just in case something happens to the real band.

The best man should obtain the marriage license and the minister's fee from the bridegroom. He helps the bridegroom get ready for the wedding, making sure his bags are packed and usually taking care of the luggage.

He calls for the bridegroom and accompanies him to the church, waiting with him in the vestry — just for moral support. He should have the bridegroom at the church at least 15 minutes before the ceremony. This is not time for a Johnny-come-lately.

After the ceremony, the best man makes sure the members of the wedding party leave in the proper cars. He checks tickets and reservations for the honeymoon.

At the reception, the best man should be prepared to act as toastmaster and timekeeper at the bride's table. He proposes the first toast, sees that the guest book is signed, has the car sent around at the proper time and assists the couple in getting away.

Suggestions Listed for Bridal Gifts

Wedding presents are part of the fun of getting married, even if the new bride does receive three candelabras and doesn't get a single dishtowel.

Practical items are always a good idea for friends who want to make sure their gifts are really appreciated. Here are some suggestions to fit every budget and taste:

For $10 or less: steak knives, magnetized knife holder with kitchen knives, ice bucket, rechargeable flashlight, wooden salt shaker and pepper grinder, glass water pitcher, vase, spice rack, lazy susan, electric tray which can be used for keeping food warm, thermometer and barometer set.

For $20 or less: carving set, wooden salad bowl and server set, electrical blanket, carpet sweeper, electric knife, electric can opener, tray tables, transistor radio, electric pencil

Wedding Dinner Becomes Popular

The wedding dinner has become popular in recent years in many areas of the country. It has always been the most popular reception time in the South.

Food served depends on the preferences of the bride's family and whether it is to be a sit-down affair or a buffet meal.

In most areas of the country, beef has become a popular dinner food at weddings. Beef and veal in wine, turkey and chicken are the popular hot foods at a sit-down dinner.

Lobster newburgh and chicken a la king are on the buffet table with an aspic or mousse, salad, breads and an attractive dessert. Soup is served at the sit-down dinner usually.

Boys Make Comments On Fashions

It may — or may not — be true that women dress to impress other women. But it is fairly sure that teen-age girls dress to impress teen-age boys. Do they succeed?

Not too often, according to a small survey by Boys' Clubs of America. The sampling is not a thorough check of the 700,000 youngsters who turn to their Clubs for fun and understanding. But it does give some insight into their thinking.

When they were queried on basic fashions, the boys came up with these comments —

Stockings: "Not those things with patterns that look like she has measles or chickenpox."

Shoes: Boots are okay, but belong to boys — really. Dirty and sloppy shoes are out. (Boys who enjoy them don't like them on their dates.)

Skirt length: "Did they ever take a good look at their knees?"

Hairdos: Surprisingly, hair pieces are okay. But, oh, how they hate those rollers. "You can't say anything — but they look awful. And don't they want to look good?"

Make-up: "Not that bleary black look" around the eyes. And not dead white nails and lips. Girls should have pink cheeks, lips, fingernails.

Tanered slacks: Okay — but not for my girl.

It would seem that boys are conservative in their tastes. They are looking for a girl to take home to meet mother — without startling mother.

One point keeps cropping up: youngsters on the path of juvenile decency want a girl who looks like a girl. A "lady" — someone you go steady with, then marry. The sharp cookies are just someone to whistle at. So, gals, decide whether you want to be whistle-bait or wed!

Empire-Waist Is Trend for Bridal Gowns

Waistlines are on the rise again.

The Empire line, popular in the early 19th century when Josephine was Empress of France, is fashion for the spring bride.

Josephine favored the style of the high-sashed waistline which flattered her small figure. To accent it even more, she often took one dynamic diamond pin and wore it center front on the raised bodice.

Marie Louise, second wife of Napoleon I, followed in Josephine's fashion. At that time the large boucle, or buckle ornament, was one of the chief jewels of the period. Marie Louise pinned the jewel, usually of diamonds, on her Empire waistband.

An important part of bridal fashion is the bride's wedding jewelry. Traditionally, the American bride wears two classic pieces of jewelry: her diamond engagement ring, and one other piece chosen to emphasize her best features.

If the neck is lovely, the piece can be a necklace. Oval, round and square necklaces are perfect frames for a single-strand necklace or one of the popular diamond pendants, often a gift from the parents.

Keep in mind that the line of

the neck should be highlighted with jewelry that is in keeping with its outline.

If face or ears are lovely, the choice can be earrings. A bride should select ones that will complement both the styling and her facial structure. Button-type ear-clips and spray-designs balance a square jawline associated with square and triangular face shapes. A face with round contours should wear earrings close to the face. Angular designs are excellent, too.

Slim elongated earrings look well on oval, heart-shaped and diamond-shaped faces because they provide extra width to a tapering jaw. Pierced lobes will be enhanced by tiny diamond studs. This can be the all-important gift of the groom to the bride.

A pin is versatile enough to be dramatically placed on the neckline, on an unadorned head-veil, or, like Josephine, center front on the bodice. The small diamond pin will accent the elevated waistline.

Simplicity in the bride's jewelry is the keynote. Jewelry is a touch of beauty meant to emphasize her best features and play down others.

The lowdown on dresses for spring is just that — lowered waistlines, low, low flounces and pleats, low and bare backs

Waistlines have become hip-lines, evoking fond memories of the flapper era. But the spirit of '66 is here, too: it's in the action, the fluid, unrestricted motion of spring's best dress shapes.

Softness directs the drama that's fashion, putting lots of mobility in dresses with pleats, flounces that whirl low from under blouses tops or narrow jackets that give the dress a suit shape.

Waistlines go 'way down for the flounce in tunic dresses. But hemlines are 'way up, above the knee at least.

Spring makes every heart light and young, and dress shapes pick up the cue: the ball of the flapper era. But the spirit of '66 is here, too: it's in the action, the fluid, unrestricted motion of spring's best dress shapes.

The simple skimmer dress takes its encores for a new fashion dash or two: scarfs to soften a neckline into a cowl, youthful, flounces that whirl low from under blouses tops or narrow jackets that give the dress a suit shape.

The shirtdress now captivates a romantic young audience in T-shirt, undershirt and sweatshirt shapes. In whispering colors, with full, flounced sleeve, the shirtdress becomes expressive as a poet's shirt.

Hats Score Big for '66 Fashions

Hats designed to set off clothes are now stealing their own fashion thunder, and rightfully so. Spring's millinery showing is quite a show!

Hat shapes remain simple, preferring to show off line and texture instead. High spirited rollers and sailors in straws and pastel felts, offer spring's best off-the-face flattery. The turban silhouette remains a favorite but with a difference: fabrics such as black and white strawcloth.

Forward-looking hats are enjoying a revival as the felt hunter's cap, the checked newsboy and the helmet are femininely reproduced to wear with the soft, young coats and suits of the season.

A two-toned jersey cap, criss-crossing under the chin, is the modern shape to wear with soft jersey dresses.

But for a really shabby, female, newer-than-new look, there's the side-tilted, chin-tied, Australian-bush hat, in pastels, pale neutrals. Similarly, a tiny pagoda-shaped hat and a chignon shape "point up" more-fashion news.

Hats with a purpose can be both practical and feminine this spring. Berets, large-brimmed hats and simple headbands offer to hide the hair or protect it from a wispy breeze and bright sunlight.

With short hairdos the trend, headbands are a delightful and colorful way to headline everything from dresses to lounge-wear. Splashy in abstracts, OP dots, peek-a-boo laces, they come in every fabric imaginable.

Although some scarf-hats, usually with back interest such as the fringed kerchief remain, scarfs are returning to their rightful place as neckline fill-ins or stoies to underscore hats.

Bold Colors Keynote New Jewelry

Color is the keynote in spring fashion jewelry, reports the Jewelry Industry Council. The soft airiness of spring clothing finds compatible contrast in glorious swinging ropes or chains of multi-colored stones and beads.

Dramatic earrings, long and drop, make the mod scene, and huge rings, many adjustable, feature one colorful large stone.

From the Orient comes the use of pink quartz and gold filigree, or jade and filigree combinations. Arm bands, slave and spiral bracelets wrap in magic, and the well-dressed wrist of tea carries a multitude of different bracelets, interspersed with rigid bangles.

The popular "Granny Look" is reflected in the overall fashion picture of feminine daintiness. Here we find choker-length necklaces, dainty pierced earrings, and delicate enamel pins combined with gold.

Long chains and pendants in antique and heirloom designs, and dropped earrings also provide happy harmony.

The "fine look" in fashion depends as ever on golden jewelry. Light and airy for spring, the gold look promises a season of sunshine. For daytime wear silver has come up strong and it is now being made so fine it adds lovely elegance to evening too.

Holiday spirit comes to spring with ever-popular pins, particularly whimsy pins in adorable animal motifs. Flower pins, too are fashion's favorite, and enamel daisies with sunny centers provide a "spright" touch. Sea life themes surface, with delightful fish figures and with colorful coral. New emphasis on white coral is a particularly happy note in spring fashion.

Biggest news is the brave, bold approach to costume jewelry, featuring pavestone designs, three-dimensional geometrics, plastics, yards of textured beads, pearls, velvet, lace, madras, patent, papier mache, enamels and woods, all helping to create a flamboyant fashion image.

THIS WEDDING DRESS is on the cover of Bride Magazine. It is an Empire line with chandelier-type lace and features scallops, ruffles and pleats and removable train of silk peau. Modeling the dress is Mrs. Dee (Pat) Savelberg. The dress is by Mori Lee. The veil is lace and crystal four-tiered crown with seed pearls and two yards of nylon bouffant illusion veil. # Buy or Rent Is Question Of Couples

Unless the bride or bridegroom has a fairy godmother who provides them with a completely equipped home, they'll probably be faced with the question:

"Which is better for a newlywed couple, renting an apartment or buying a home?"

For the young couple, the major expense of a down payment on a house is usually too much. Renting is less expensive since there is less upkeep, no taxes and fewer incidentals like heating.

Also, they may not want to have to furnish a whole house all at once.

If they do have enough money saved to buy a home, the U.S. department of agriculture offers several factors to keep in mind.

First, remember that the larger the down payment and the shorter the term of the mortgage loan, the less the house will cost in the long run.

For instance, a $15,000 mortgage at six per cent interest paid over 15 years will cost you about half the cost of the original loan in interest.

Money counselors generally advise allowing two and one-half times annual income for purchase of a home.

But do not forget, the wife who is working at the time of her marriage may not be employed a year later.

And children also will increase costs and cut down on money available.

The extras that are involved in buying a house include property taxes, insurance, heat and upkeep. These usually total about four to five per cent of the cost of the home each year.

The total mortgage payment each month should amount to about 25 per cent of take home pay.

This is about the same figure which should be allotted for monthly apartment rent, but prices vary widely with locality. In some areas you may have to go as high as 30 per cent to find an apartment, while in others the rent budget will be less.

With an apartment, you are not buying anything and will make no profit.

On the other hand, you will have less expenses as you go along and will not be tied to a long-term mortgage—an important aspect since many young couples are quite mobile and do not stay in one place long.

INCLUDE SPOUSES

If any of the bride's or bridegroom's attendants are married, their spouses should be included in all pre-wedding parties. However, they do not attend the wedding rehearsal and don't stand in the receiving line.

SILVERWARE and china patterns are examined by Mary Jane McWilliams and her fiancé, H. John Leusner. Miss McWilliams is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. C. R. McWilliams, Twin Falls. Leusner is the son of Mrs. Anne Hillen Leusner, Mayer, West Germany. He also is a student at University of Idaho. (Times-News photo)

Invitations Should Match Wedding Size

The type of invitations the bride sends out for her wedding will depend on what kind of ceremony she is having.

For a small wedding, with fewer than 50 guests, handwritten notes from either the bride or her mother are acceptable. But for a large informal wedding, or a formal wedding, or a formal ceremony, the bride usually sends out invitations engraved on white, ivory or cream-colored paper.

For formal weddings, a large size paper, folded square, with engraving on the top sheet, is usually used. This is folded once when put in the envelope. The tissue paper is left in to protect the engraving.

A smaller size paper, inserted without folding, is used for less formal weddings.

If the bride does not wish to use engraving, you may choose a form of printing which resembles engraving. It is less expensive and has become popularly accepted.

Invitations should be ordered from the jeweler, stationer or department stores. Most stores have consultants to advise the bride on the wording.

Invitations to a church "request the honor of your presence." Invitations to a reception read, "pleasure of your company."

The invitations should be sent by the bride's parents. If the parents are deceased, they are sent by a close relative.

In cases where the parents are divorced, the invitations are sent by that parent with whom the bride lives.

If all of the guests are invited to both the ceremony and the reception, one invitation is sufficient.

If there is a separate guest list for each event, a small reception card is enclosed with the invitation to the ceremony.

The outer envelopes for the invitations should be addressed by hand—never type. The inner envelope is left unsealed and is addressed to Mr. and Mrs. Doe, without first names or address.

Feminine or High Styled Linens Are Noted for Future Homemaker's Closet

Bridal showers will fatten the linen chest, but can a bride take the risk of waiting to see whether the girls give her a linen shower?

It's risky, especially if she gets a late start. At the last moment, when she is trying to plan the real essentials of the wedding, she'll be worrying about what she is going to do about sheets and pillowcases.

The first step taken in decoration should be a color scheme for each room. If the bathroom adjoins a master bedroom, it usually is kept in the same color scheme. But that detail is up to the bride.

Once color schemes are selected, she can go about choosing linens, blankets, bedspreads, and so on. Bed linen and covers must be chosen after a decision is made about the size of the bed or the bedroom furniture has already been selected.

A good guide to a linen trousseau is a minimum of three—one in use, one in the laundry, and one in the shelf. This applies to sets, also, such as one pair of sheets.

If she never noticed before, she'll find that both for sheets and towels, stores feature prints that run the gamut from soft, feminine to dramatically high-styled designs, as well as plains to contrast or go with it.

If there is a great deal of design in the floor pattern of the bathroom, she may like to keep her towels to a solid color. Or she may find a patterned towel that blends in with the floor pattern.

To get the most variety and interest, it's wise to pick a towel that is most appealing to her in design and coloring, then coordinate plain towels with this pattern.

In addition, she'll require suitable blankets and bedspreads, and a bed pad for each bed.

Time was when blankets were the big heavy variety, but nowadays, blankets such as the insulated thermal type, are lightweight and can keep you warm in winter and cool in summer.

Insulated blankets are woven with air pockets that trap the warmth of the body. The blanket is topped with a light covering to keep in body heat.

In summer, the top cover is removed. These blankets look handcrafted and are available in plain colors to fit any size bed, plus plaids, tweeds and prints.

There are also, besides the conventional wool blankets, electric blankets, but these may not be an immediate necessity.

Bedspreads vary in color and size. If you are having a decorator do your home, she will no doubt suggest the proper spread for the room, perhaps one that matches the draperies.

Or, if the room is early American, the spread could be one that is old or hand crocheted by grandma.

Many a girl has had to buy a bed to fit grandma's hand crocheted bedspread for fear of offending her. Any grandmother who passes along a hand crocheted spread expects it to be used!

For those who have no heirlooms from grandma, there are heirloom reproductions for early American or traditional homes. There are tailored styles for contemporary rooms. There are luxurious spreads for elegant period rooms.

A basic mood-maker in a room, the bedspread can create a variety of effects. While the furniture style in the room is important to the choice of appropriate bedcover, don't overlook the individuality and good looks that can be created by using combinations.

An Oriental-type bedspread in a traditional room; a crisp, textured bedspread in a room with maple furniture; an heirloom bedspread combined with repainted attic furniture.

She can have a lot of fun selecting sheets and pillowcases. If she doesn't know how her husband feels about floral patterns or geometric designs, she might start off with striped pillowcases and top sheet.

Or she might have solid colored sheets and pillowcases with hand embroidered initials. Plain white linen can be lovely in addition to its pristine bridal look. If it is initiated in either white or a pastel color. And these sheets will hold up indefinitely if properly laundered. In the kitchen she'll want some gay kitchen linens to liven up her pot-watching world. Towels are now available in ensembles which include aprons, toaster covers, pot holders of terry with a wide range of patterns to suit country kitchens, French Provincial or modern.

When shopping for towels whether for bathroom or kitchen, she'll find there are many different qualities and prices. Terry cloth of good quality feels soft and springy to the touch.

It should hold up through many washings if loops of the thread are deep. If she holds the towel up to the light, the glow should barely show through. Underweave and the selvaige should be firm and even.

Garden Weddings Least Expensive

One of the prettiest weddings is one of the least expensive—a stand-up reception on the lawn.

A lovely bride's table is set with the wedding cake and a large punch bowl full of a festive drink.

Since the garden wedding is held in warm weather a champagne punch is a delightful refresher.

Seating Arrangements for Relatives At Formal Church Weddings Definite

At a formal church wedding, whether daytime or evening, there's a definite seating arrangement.

Relatives and friends of the bride are seated on the left of the church's center aisle and those of the groom on the right. When the ceremony is about to take place, the bridegroom's mother is ushered to her seat in the first pew on the right side, her husband walking behind her.

Then the bride's mother is escorted to her seat in the first pew on the left.

At the strains of the wedding march, the clergyman, the bridegroom and the best man will emerge at the altar or chancel from the vestry of a side door where they have been waiting for the bridal party.

The procession begins at the first beat of the march, everyone starting with his left foot in this order:

The ushers marching in pairs, shortest ones leading, each pair about five paces apart.

Bridesmaids walk either alone or in pairs keeping the same steady pace.

Next, the marten of honor or maid of honor.

Then the ring bearer, followed by the flower girl.

About eight steps behind the flower girl is the bride at her father's right, leaning on his arm. The wedding guests have been standing for the procession.

Bridal party members take their positions this way:

Ushers leave the middle aisle as they get to the chancel, one going to each side, dividing each pair.

Bridesmaids pairs also walk one to each side at the altar and take their places in front of the ushers.

Maid of honor stands to the left of the bride on the left side of the altar.

Flower girl also stands on the left, next to or a little behind the maid of honor.

The ring bearer stands on the right side to the right of the best man or slightly behind him.

When the bride and her father reach the bridal assemblage, she releases her father's right arm and the groom steps up to meet her. They then move together until they are facing the clergyman. The bride's father stands slightly behind her and to the left.

The ceremony depends on the ritual of the church after this point. In most weddings, the bride's father gives her away and then sits down beside her mother.

The bride hands her bouquet to her maid of honor about the time the best man becomes ready to hand over the ring.

After the ceremony, the maid of honor returns the bouquet to the bride. The groom may kiss the bride, and if the veil is covering her face, the maid of honor will have lifted it up.

She will then take the groom's right arm which he has offered, facing the center aisle and they will begin the recessional.

As the recessional music plays, the wedding party goes up the aisle in this order: the bride and bridegroom, the flower girl, the ring bearer, maid of honor with the best man and then the bridesmaids and ushers.

After the bridal party reaches the end of the pews, two ushers return to the first pews to escort the bride's and bridegroom's mothers from the church.

The guests must stay in their pews until the members of the families have reached the bridal party or the vestibule. If the wedding reception is a very limited affair, the bride may stand in the vestibule of the church and receive family and guests before going down to her car.

New World of Carpet Ideas Set for '66

A whole new world of rugs and carpets, in store for spring, features thick furry piles, sculptured surfaces, bold patterns, new colors and fibers.

Some floor coverings look as if they should really be hung on the wall, thanks to designs taken from paintings. The range extends from the finest Aubusson types in muted colors to abstract colors in lively tones.

New colors appear as opposite extremes, with brilliant yellows and reds and winey maroons and earth tones.

Pattern makes news, as mills now make patterned wall-to-wall carpet at moderate prices. (Formerly, most patterns were used in area rugs.) Some beautiful floral and geometric patterns are available at comparatively low prices.

Synthetic fibers such as rayon, nylon, acrylic and polypropylene are more common than ever. They offer excellent colors, wearing properties, stain and crush resistance.

With such floor coverings, dealers often recommend the use of latex foam rubber or sponge rubber carpet underlays to give them a luxurious "deep" feeling.

Carpeting is no longer used exclusively in the living room and dining room. Special construction carpets are available for bedrooms, bathrooms, kitchens, basements, and even for patios and outdoor areas.

Uses Listed For Silver Serving Items

Silver serving pieces originally designed for one specific purpose are now being put to other — and more decorative — uses by the homemaker who has an eye for the original.

A standard serving boat or gravy pitcher can be used for bread sticks. Or put celery sticks in the boat, and on its accompanying platter, arrange fresh vegetable relishes.

A compote or silver shell is an ideal container in which to float candles at an informal party or to use as a centerpiece for a luncheon buffet table.

An ice bucket can double as vase, or it can be used as a centerpiece for a surprise party when it's filled with tiny gifts wrapped in ribbon streamers which link them with individual place cards.

The new color-lined silver accessory pieces offer a whole new field in decorating. They're heat-treated, have a durable color coating, and will not crack, scar or chip.

Such bowls have many lives. They can be used for dips, with a cracker assortment arranged on a small silver tray. Or they can be filled with tiny greens that are inexpensive, attractive and easily replaced.

Snack trays can turn into ash trays for the night table, or be used as colorful soap containers in the bathroom.

Ideas insure that silver doesn't gleam unseen in a storage closet.

Spring Furs Have Variety Of Colors

The fast pace of 1966 dictates a tremendous variety of colors — both in fabrics and furs. Fashion authorities predict that the color perspective looks to clear, lively colors in every range.

They vary from pale offshades of white and beiges to brilliant bright shades to zingy, darks.

And the many natural shades of American bred mink fit in perfectly with this fashion forecast, reports the Emba Mink Breeders Association.

In 14 color phases, mink ranges from pure snowy white and pale pale rose through blues, grays, beiges and browns to deep gunmetal and a demibuff which resembles the color of wild mink.

The pales will be at the height of the fashion picture this spring. These can be complemented with the paler Emba mutations, such as Tourmaline, rare natural pale beige mink or the pure white—Jasmine—mink.

The paler breath-of-spring variations of the Emba — rare blue-grey Azurene, or Emba rare blue Cerulean, for instance — have been cited by leading furriers in spring's favorite style, the cardigan.

The clear, blue beige shadings of Morning Light curving bolero with a swirled front that dips around to the back for an easy, yet beautiful way to look with spring's pale colors.

Bold, bright colors ask for a more conservative mink. American ranchers have perfected a large variety of shades within the brown color phases, which can complement every woman's wardrobe and personal coloring.

An extremely fashionable way to look is achieved with a long straight stole of Autumn Haze, Emba rare natural brown mink. Variations called Stewart, orchid and dawn—all paler than the standard brown—are available.

The secret to color selection when choosing a mink, says the Emba Association, is to try, try, try them on—all of them.

Comfortable Is Theme for Furniture

Room to stretch out and get comfortable is the theme of 1966 furniture designs. New upholstered pieces are king-sized. They are exceptionally comfortable and luxurious. And they all look expensive, even if they are not.

Chests, tables and sideboards, have been large-sized for some time, and the upholstered pieces are now catching up. Cushions have been getting softer, plumper and thicker for several years, but now they are positively cloud-like.

One manufacturer has a new cushion design made out of layer after layer of latex foam rubber. The result is a cushion nearly a foot thick. A favored feature is that the cushions never need to be plumped—they recover their shape instantly.

Dominant furniture styles are: Mediterranean and Spanish, plump modern designs with pouffy seating and arms, and Colonial designs. A new note is English furniture, mainly from the 18th century, but reaching back into the 17th century.

No matter the style, cushioning is rounded and sumptuous. Seats are closer to the floor (and so are tables). Sharp angles are out, softened corners are in. And contemporary designs show the influence of many, many other styles.

Furniture designers have come up with some surprises. For 1966, they have introduced the "wrapped" look, where the entire chair is upholstered right down to the floor, even the legs which would normally be wood.

Furniture is on the move. Casters permit rolling the pieces around to where they are needed, with greatest ease. Sometimes, the rollers are hidden.

Upholstery fabrics have picked up the use of extra-wide wale corduroy from clothing fashions. Dressy suede cloth is popular, and there is a great deal of cut velvet and crushed velvet being used. Fake fur is used abundantly, not only on furniture but for decorative pillows and throws.

Of particular interest is the steady improvement in the quality and style of lower and moderately priced furniture.

Homemaking Fashion Tips Are Outlined

Personalize your table-setting this spring. Let them reflect your taste, tempo and flair for entertaining. Selecting the right setting for an occasion is probably the most important step. To be certain that your table cover says what you want down to the floor, even the legs which would normally be wood.

To serve light refreshments with a flair, dress up a card table. Understated simplicity is the keynote for a small table.

A solid cotton cloth in a bright color is a smart choice. Give matching cotton napkins a special touch by applying a colorful floral motif on each one. Another novel touch might be four fabric napkinholders permanently sewed to each place on the table cloth.

Round tables are popular now, especially the glass-topped wrought-iron types. Equally at home on the terrace or in the dining room, a round table calls for contour place mats.

Airy, Open Look Seen In Fretwork

Airy, open and very much in the mood of spring, fretwork casts cool reflections of light and shade across the home fashion scene. Its appearances are many, its interpretations varied.

Lattice and trellis effects, airy patterns in wrought iron, cut-out wood carvings, wicker and caning—they're all part of the fretwork trend.

Ornamental open work adorns everything from outdoor furniture to folding screens.

The fretwork influence is seen in the use of carved, cutout wood for the sides of sofas and chairs or the headboards of beds.

Used in the same way, caning in furniture looks both cool and attractive for spring.

Fabrics and floor coverings, wallpapers and wall paneling echo the trend. Sofas, for instance, are upholstered in fabrics with scroll patterns that reflect the fretwork feeling of their carved wood sides.

Rules Listed For Making Closet Chic

Here's news about clothes — not so much the upcoming spring fashions — but the closets they go into after we get them. Here are four simple suggestions for making your closet as chic as your new clothes.

There's only one way to start. Strip your closet to its "bare bones." Then, when all that's left is the skeleton, wash the walls, shelves and floor with a sponge which has been dunked in pine cleaner and water. This way, you'll get rid of dirt and germs and your closet will smell as clean as it is.

Suggestion number two — Make good use of the aids to neatness now on the market. These are the plastic garment bags, see-through hat boxes, hanging shoe shelves, belt racks and the like. Just explore your nearest closet shop and you'll get the idea.

Suggestion number three — Mothproof and deodorize your closet. You can do this all at once with a pine deodorizer.

Suggestion number four — Avoid family friction by dividing your closet in two. Try using a skirt hanger, or even a garment bag, to make two sections out of one closet. Then, if it's a "his" and "hers" closet, the dividing line is clear.

If it's just your closet, take advantage of organizing space by putting short garments on one side, long ones on the other. Then it will look neater and keep both your clothes and your temper in better condition.

Lingerie for Springtime Is Feminine

The soft, feminine way is lingerie and loungewear's story for spring. This softer look and feel is accomplished with delicate voiles, tricot and silks.

Daytime underlinings are softly shaded and smooth to the touch in briefer and bared shapes. Super-short chemise slips have found their counterpart in little hip-riding skirtlets, some attached to their own bikini panties and some with softly shaped matching bras.

Combination slips are chemise length, empire-shaped contoured bra slips. Most of these flippy slip styles spread sunshine in colorful flower patches and wild, striped patterns.

Airy and open is the look for furniture and furnishings this spring. All is light and bright for the new season.

otic prints in a melange of color that lend themselves to stripped-down pajama versions of sporty styles. Pants styles range from jams to bell-bottoms to hip-huggers.

Little sleep dresses are chemise length with bikinis or to the ankle. Long sleepshifts can be Granny styled or skinny shafts with bare backs and shoulders and halter necklines.

Pants are "in" and ready for at-home hours in drifty and drapy styles. Jumpsuits, pajamas and pants with matching coats show oversized paisley and African prints and stripes. Whatever the styles, the legs swing in bell-bottomed looks.

At-home lounge dresses start off in soft floral prints and end up in wild "art nouveau" prints.

Wedding Customs of Today's Brides Established Thousands of Years Ago

From the moment a bride wakes on her wedding day until she starts her honeymoon, she is likely to be following customs established thousands of years ago.

The custom of not seeing the bridegroom before the ceremony on the day of the wedding was responsible for the origin of the veil. The bride's face was covered until the bridegroom lifted it to behold her countenance for the first time. Veils have been thought of also as symbols of modesty and virginity.

White wedding dresses were worn as symbols of purity back in biblical times.

The idea of attendants at weddings was supposed to have originated with the idea of the bridegroom "capturing his bride." His male attendant or best man was supposed to protect him from relatives who would not look favorably upon the idea.

The bride's attendants were supposed to rescue her from the would-be bridegroom. But who wanted to be rescued, anyway?

Wedding rings were first noted in Egyptian artifacts although they are believed to have been originated as betrothal rings — the circle was supposed to signify love without end.

The custom of wearing the ring on the third finger, left hand, is supposed to have originated with the Romans who believed the left hand indicated subjection, and that a vein or nerve connected that finger with the heart. Romans used iron because of the durability of the metal.

Even the bride's trousseau had firm roots in the legends. It is said that the custom began so that the bride could give the bridegroom sufficient evidence of assets that would repay the bridegroom for the price he had to pay for her hand.

When she didn't have anything to put into the bridal chest — thought to be the forerunner of the hope chest — her friends helped her accumulate sufficient contents to impress a would-be bridegroom.

The story goes that a beautiful Dutch girl couldn't marry because her father wouldn't give her a dowry. But interested friends intervened, each giving her a gift, so that she could establish a dowry. That was the beginning of what we now know as the bridal shower.

When Dad walks his daughter to the altar, he too is fulfilling an ancient tradition. Fathers accompanied their daughters to the wedding place in the older days to make sure the marriage contract was fulfilled.

At Roman weddings they did not cut the bridal cake — the bridegroom broke it over the

Sweaters

If the couple is honeymooning around the water, no matter how tropical, don't forget a wool sweater.

There's nothing like wool to ward off penetrating chills of damp breezes, teeth-chattering shivers that come after over-exposure to sun and water.

Wool is unique in its ability to protect against clammy cold because the porous fiber can absorb up to one-third of its weight in moisture without feeling damp.

Small pieces of the salt cake were then distributed to guests.

This custom is said to thrive still in certain areas of Europe — an oat bannock cake is used in rural Scotland and a flat wheat bread in Bulgaria.

Ancient Hebrews wore a touch of blue on the wedding dress — usually a blue ribbon border on the clothes — to symbolize pur-

Weddings in Homes May Be Simple of Formal Functions

The home wedding can be a very simple family gathering or a more elaborate and formal function where caterers take over most of the arrangements.

If the formal is preferred, an hour is chosen which is convenient not only for the engaged couple, but for guests who may be coming in by car from some distance. If so, early afternoon might be a suitable time.

A favorite place for the actual ceremony is in front of a fireplace whose mantle is decorated with flowers, or before a picture window.

While wedding music is not necessary, the bride may ask a guest to play the family piano or organ prior to the ceremony.

ity, love and fidelity.

This may have been the origin of the suggestion that the bride wear something old, something new, something borrowed and something blue.

When the appointed hour comes, the clergyman, bridegroom and best man take their places, and the bride, preceded by her attendants, and ushers, if there are such, come in as they would in a church ceremony and stand in front of the minister.

At the close of the ceremony, the four merely turn around and the guests come up to express their greetings. Then they all move into the dining room for the reception, which may be a simple buffet, with champagne, and the traditional wedding cake.

The ceremony will be similar in the more elaborate wedding, but the reception can be a full buffet, a sit-down dinner, or, in the proper climate, an outdoor reception in the garden.

Receiving Line Should Be Planned

If a bride or her mother could be efficient about the little things, the wedding would go, oh, so smoothly.

But as it turns out, the large things are the ones that occupy their minds weeks before the wedding. There is so much to cram in, to check on before the big day that though everything seems to be organized like a well oiled machine, those little things are forgotten.

So at the reception, it suddenly dawns on them that they have not planned a receiving line.

At a traditional reception, the bride's mother stands at the door to receive the guests as she is the hostess. Next to the bride's mother stands the bridegroom's mother and father.

The bridegroom's father may like to circulate among the guests with the father of the bride, and the best man and ushers.

Farther along will be the receiving line — bride, bridegroom and attendants. The maid of honor will stand to the bride's right along with half the number of bridesmaids.

The other bridesmaids will stand to the bridegroom's left, and the bride, of course will be to the right of the bridegroom.

It is easy for the bride to remember that she is never to be at the left of the bridegroom.

There may be departures from this traditional receiving line, particularly if it is a religious custom, where parents and bridal party receive on the same line.

An awkward situation may arise at a large wedding where numbers of guests are unknown to the mothers. In that case it is often a good idea to have a spotter who will quickly relay the information to the mother.

Or guests could be announced by one who has been designated to do the serving of the champagne, acting in the role of the butler.

If a guest does not know any other guests at the wedding, he will greet the parents and bridal couple, whom he obviously does know, glance at the gift table, if there is one, join in a toast if there is one and then leave the reception.
